RECENTLY a doctor of middle age was murdered because he refused to answer a late night call. The woman calling him had died.

Sunday, in Brooklyn, a similar shocking tragedy occurred. A doctor, called by the family of a sick child, was delayed by some cause unknown. The child died and the doctor, arriving 20 minutes after the death, was murdered by inmates of the household, his throat cut, in revenge for the child's death.

MEDICINE is a profession not to be envied, or entered upon lightly. Four hundred years before Christ, Hippocrates, first real doctor, wrote the oath that begins:

"I swear by Appollo, the physician, and Asciepius and Hygeia and Panac, invoking all the gods and goddesses to be my witnesses that I will fulfill this oath and this written covenant to the best of my power and of my judgment."

When he worded that oath, binding those that swore to the most severe and loyal public service, Hippocrates realized the danger of his profession. He said, "I hold it to be physicianly to abstain from treating those who are overwhelmed by disease," meaning those absolutely incurable.

IN ancient days the doctor's work was considered by the ignorant a work of magic, and failure might have caused resentment and murder.

That Brooklyn tragedy proves the wisdom of Hippocrates' ruling. Getting little thanks of pay when they succeeded, risking defamation or even death when they fail, you need not envy physicians their work.

JOHN WOLLMAN reported to a religious sect of old fashioned views—very fundamentalist—that an evil spirit had taken possession of his wife, 35 years old. That seemed easy to the two reverend gentlemen that took the evil spirit in hand.

They knew he had to eat or get out, so that gave the woman no food for five days, and kept her tied down to her bed for three days. Prayers were said continuously, and probably the devil would soon have been discouraged.

BUT modernist business men heard about it, released the woman, called in regular doctors and the religious demonstration was spoiled.

TWO UNHURT AS $15,000 BLAST HITS J. W. BATEY DWELLING HERE

Accumulated Fumes in Basement Ignite From Furnace.

FIRE FOLLOWS

Mrs. Flora Pomeroy, 75, and Grandson Showered With Debris.

Two-story brick home of J. Willard Batey, 726 Bradshaw avenue, was wrecked by an explosion of accumulated gas in the basement, followed by fire, at 10:15 o'clock last night, entailing a loss estimated at $15,000.

Nearby Homes Rocked.

Mrs. Flora Pomeroy, 75, mother of Mrs. Batey, and her five-year-old grandson, James Willard Batey, Jr., only inmates of the house at the time of the blast, were unhurt.

The fire was extinguished by the Central department.

Scores of nearby homes were rocked by the force of the explosion. Windows in one side of the Charles Pomeroy residence, which adjoins the Batey dwelling were shattered.

Mr. and Mrs. Batey were spending the evening with friends, leaving Mrs. Pomeroy, who resides with them, in charge of their son. Batey said that he visited the basement to attend the furnace about 7:45 o'clock, but scented no gas.

One Wall Collapses.

Mrs. Pomeroy was reading in the living room at the time of the blast. She had undressed her grandson, who was asleep on a davenport in the room. She said that she scented no gas during the evening, although she had occasion to visit the kitchen and other parts of the first floor.

The east wall of the house collapsed and a section of the north or front wall also gave way. The sun parlor, under which is located the coal bins, connected with the cellar by a single doorway, was lifted from its foundation and carried into the front yard. Both the south and west side walls were badly bulged.

Frightened by the detonation, Mrs. Pomeroy attempted to use the telephone but found the connection had been broken by the force of the blast. Her grandson was awakened by the explosion, and Mrs. Pomeroy and the child were on their way out of the house through an aperture when they were met by a neighbor.

Owner Heard Detonation.

Within a few minutes hundreds of persons had gathered around the house. Fearful that the remaining walls on the house might collapse, allowing the roof to crash, a call was sent to police headquarters. Special Policeman Leslie Curran responded. He remained on duty there throughout the night.

Mrs. Pomeroy and her grandson went to the home of Mrs. William Wells, nearby, where they spent the

Merton is Recalled As Witness Against Daugherty, Miller

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—Richard Merton, German metal magnate, was recalled to the stand at the Daugherty-Miller conspiracy trial today for questioning by Judge John Knox, presiding.

Merton told Judge Knox that he could not remember in detail his conversations with King or Jess Smith, Daugherty's right hand man, regarding the claim. King told him that a lawyer was not needed to handle the case, and later King took the matter over from Dulles.

Dulles had already learned from the alien property custodian's office that the claim probably could not be allowed, and Judge Knox wanted to learn if King knew of this at the time he took the case, but Merton could not recall.

FIEND USES BASEBALL BAT TO COMMIT DOUBLE MURDER NEAR CONNEAUT

Battered Almost to Pulp, Bodies of Mrs. Celia Brown, 27, and Five-year-old Boy are Found in Their Bungalow, Three Miles West of City.

HUSBAND, RETURNING FROM HIS WORK AS RAIL CALLER, MAKES DISCOVERY

Door of House Was Open, and Radio Was Grinding Out Tune, When Man Finds Wife's Beaten Form in Sleeping Porch—Son's Body Was in Basement.

CONNEAUT, O., Feb. 15.—Beaten almost to a pulp, the bodies of Mrs. Celia Brown, 27, and her son, Frederick Brown, Jr., 5, were found early today in the Brown bungalow, three miles west of here. A baseball bat with which the double murder was committed was found by police.

According to Fred Brown, the husband and father, who called Conneaut officials, he returned from his work as caller at the Nickel Plate Engine house shortly after midnight. He found, he said, that the door of his house was open, and the radio was grinding out a tune.

In the sleeping porch the body of Mrs. Brown was lying. In the basement was that of his son. Nearby was the blood-[illegible] baseball bat. Both bodies were still warm, he said.

Sheriff Frank Sheldon, County Detective H. G. Hannum and Coroner William Webster arrived at the house within a few hours. An autopsy was being conducted today to determine whether or not the woman had been attacked. That robbery was not the motive was made evident when it was found that a small sum of money in the house had not been touched.

Evidence of Struggle.

Every part of the house bore evidence of a terrific struggle, made by the woman and child to save their lives. A trail of blood reached from room to room, and authorities hoped to find finger prints which would lead to establishing the identity of the slayer.

In the woman's tightly clenched fists were found bits of flesh and also strands of gray hair which she evidently tore from her slayer before he beat her to death.

With this discovery, Conneaut officials sent to Erie for bloodhounds to trail the murderer.

A suspect was arrested by authorities this morning, but after brief questioning he was released.

Brown was in a state of near collapse when authorities arrived. A police guard has been placed around the home.

Brown went to the home of the nearest neighbor, L. N. Cutler, about 400 feet distant, and called Conneaut police. County authorities were summoned from Jefferson.

Neighbors said they heard no sound of a struggle nor any outcry during the evening.

He will visit Ohio, Illinois, and Indiana.

Union Chief Says Mine Owners are Fostering Strike

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 15.—John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, today charged before the joint wage conference that certain influential soft coal operators were fostering a strike in the industry this spring in order to force up coal prices.

He also turned his guns on the United States senators from West Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee, who led the fight against the confirmation of Cyrus E. Woods of Pennsylvania to the interstate commerce commission. These senators, he declared, were either "in the service or direct employ of the non-union coal operators who are attempting to maintain discriminatory freight rates on lake coal shipments from the non-union fields."

Great Britain Will Not Abolish Use Of Poison Gas

LONDON, Feb. 15.—Great Britain will not abolish the use of poison gas, and will continue to protect her nationals against poison gases, until other nations abolish the use of this weapon of warfare, Premier Baldwin stated in the house of commons today.

BUS TERMINAL SWEPT BY FIRE

FRANCE REJECTS PRESIDENT COOLIDGE'S DISARMAMENT PROPOSALS; JAPAN IS WILLING TO PARTICIPATE IN PARLEY

BY HARRY R. FLORY.

PARIS, Feb. 15.—The French cabinet, meeting with President Doumergue, today gave its unanimous approval to the reply to the disarmament proposals of President Coolidge.

The reply will be handed to the American embassy this afternoon. It is understood the reply is in effect a rejection of the American proposals.

"The note is perfect," said Minister of Marine Leygues," following the cabinet meeting.

M. Briand, foreign minister, who drafted the note, said it would probably be published late this afternoon or tomorrow.

The reply, couched in diplomatic terms and sympathetic in tone, is nevertheless of rebuff for the Coolidge proposals which may spell their defeat.

Spells Defeat of Plan.

Minister of Interior Sarraut informed the International News Service that the note "points out firstly that the league of nations is now handling disarmament problems, and secondly that naval disarmament interests all nations not only the five big powers."

"France can't take the problem of disarmament from the league of nations—that is the fist of the note," said M. Sarraut.

International News Service learns that the French reply leaves little in the way of a loophole for any counter-proposals and in French circles it is generally believed that it spells the end of the Coolidge proposals.

Italy, it is learned, has indicated that she sympathizes with the French viewpoint and even in Great Britain, the admiralty has some objects to offer which might prevent a complete acceptance by the British government.

The next move of President Coolidge is awaited here with keen interest.

Japan's Stand on Cruisers.

TOKIO, Feb. 15.—Japan is willing to participate in President Coolidge's armament parley, Premier Wakatsuki told the government peers today, but it is impossible for the government to cancel the appropriation for three cruisers.

The premier's statement was made before the upper house of the diet and in answer to questions concerning President Coolidge's proposals.

The premier declared Japan's naval and military forces were at a minimum strength.

No Reduction of Armament.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—France's decision to reject President Coolidges overtures for a new naval disarmament conference was accepted in Washington today as indicating there will be no effective reduction of armament, either on land or sea, for a long time to come.

The powers will reconvene in Geneva next month, under the auspices of the league of nations, to talk about it They talked about it for six months last year without making any appreciable headway, and there is little expectation here that renewed discussions will get any further.

American delegates who spent tedious hours in the Geneva meeting reported to administration officials that the conference was seemingly futile They said the gathering was dominated by France and her small continental allies, and that it was useless to continue discussions wherein countries that had no navies had an equal vote on naval questions with those powers possessing great navies.

The Anglo-American position was and is that naval disarmament should be dealt with by those powers having naval establishments, and that land disarmament should be dealt with by those powers having a vital interest in the size of neighboring military establishments. This position has been consistently rejected in the Geneva gatherings in accordance with the French thesis that land and sea questions are interdependent. Consequently, the Geneva conference has seen Czecho-Slovakia, Jugo-Slavia and Poland gravely voting with France on naval questions, even though they possess no navies that could be affected by the conclusions reached.

It was to end this farcial situation that President Coolidge proposed that the naval powers equip their delegates with authority to actually make a new naval treaty upon their return to Geneva. His memorandum was addressed only to the naval powers Great Britain, Japan, France and Italy.

ONE-DAY SESSION

Three East Liverpool Men are Among Those Accused.

An indictment for first degree murder against Roy Wallen, 33, coal miner, who is alleged to have shot Rodney Ogle, 57, also a miner, after an argument in the Ogle home in East Salineville on Sunday evening, Feb. 6, was among the seven true bills returned in a one-day session by the Columbiana county grand jury at Lisbon shortly after 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Immediately following the grand jury action, it was announced that the law firm of Cochran and Crawford, of East Liverpool, and Attorney W. A. O'Grady, of Wellsville, had been retained to defend Wallen. His trial is expected to be called late in March.

Other indictments voted were:

Elisha Tucker, Elkrun township, receiving and concealing ware, of the value of $84.24, stolen from the East End plants of the Homer Laughlin China Co., East Liverpool.

Leroy Foltz, East Liverpool, criminal attack upon a 9-year-old girl.

Tim Kurns, East Liverpool, uttering and publishing a forged check for $10 and using the name of "Barb" Southal.

Charles Reynolds, Madison township, manufacturing distilled liquor.

Robert Miller, Salem, stabbing with intent to wound.

Kinsey Wheeler, East Liverpool, attempted assault upon a 13-year-old girl.

Judge W. F. Lones, following a conference with Prosecuting Attorney Robert M. Brookes announced that prisoners indicted would be arraigned Wednesday morning.

FIEND USES BASEBALL BAT TO COMMIT DOUBLE MURDER NEAR CONNEAUT

HUSBAND, RETURNING FROM HIS WORK AS RAIL CALLER, MAKES DISCOVERY

Door of House Was Open, and Radio Was Grinding Out Tune, When Man Finds Wife's Beaten Form in Sleeping Porch—Son's Body Was in Basement.

CONNEAUT, O., Feb. 15.—Beaten almost to a pulp, the bodies of Mrs. Celia Brown, 27, and her son, Frederick Brown, Jr., 5, were found early today in the Brown bungalow, three miles west of here. A baseball bat with which the double murder was committed was found by police.

According to Fred Brown, the husband and father, who called Conneaut officials, he returned from his work as caller at the Nickel Plate Engine house shortly after midnight. He found, he said, that the door of his house was open, and the radio was grinding out a tune.

In the sleeping porch the body of Mrs. Brown was lying. In the basement was that of his son. Nearby was the bloody baseball bat. Both bodies were still warm, he said.

Sheriff Frank Sheldon, County Detective H. G. Hannum and Coroner William Webster arrived at the house within a few hours. An autopsy was being conducted today to determine whether or not the woman had been attacked. That robbery was not the motive was made evident when it was found that a small sum of money in the house had not been touched.

Evidence of Struggle.

Every part of the house bore evidence of a terrific struggle, made by the woman and child to save their lives. A trail of blood reached from room to room, and authorities hoped to find finger prints which would lead to establishing the identity of the slayer.

In the woman's tightly clenched fists were found bits of flesh and also strands of gray hair which she evidently tore from her slayer before he beat her to death.

With this discovery, Conneaut officials sent to Erie for bloodhounds to trail the murderer.

A suspect was arrested by authorities this morning, but after brief questioning he was released.

Brown was in a state of near collapse when authorities arrived. A police guard has been placed around the home.

Brown went to the home of the nearest neighbor, L. N. Cutler, about 400 feet distant, and called Conneaut police. County authorities were summoned from Jefferson.

Neighbors said they heard no sound of a struggle nor any outcry during the evening.

He will visit Ohio, Illinois, and Indiana.

Union Chief Says Mine Owners are Fostering Strike

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 15.—John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, today charged before the joint wage conference that certain influential soft coal operators were fostering a strike in the industry this spring in order to force up coal prices.

He also turned his guns on the United States senators from West Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee, who led the fight against the confirmation of Cyrus E. Woods of Pennsylvania to the interstate commerce commission. These senators, he declared, were either "in the service or direct employ of the non-union coal operators who are attempting to maintain discriminatory freight rates on lake coal shipments from the non-union fields."

FRANCE REJECTS PRESIDENT COOLIDGE'S DISARMAMENT PROPOSALS; JAPAN IS WILLING TO PARTICIPATE IN PARLEY

BY HARRY R. FLORY.

PARIS, Feb. 15.—The French cabinet, meeting with President Doumergue, today gave its unanimous approval to the reply to the disarmament proposals of President Coolidge.

The reply will be handed to the American embassy this afternoon. It is understood the reply is in effect a rejection of the American proposals.

"The note is perfect," said Minister of Marine Leygues," following the cabinet meeting.

M. Briand, foreign minister, who drafted the note, said it would probably be published late this afternoon or tomorrow.

The reply, couched in diplomatic terms and sympathetic in tone, is nevertheless of rebuff for the Coolidge proposals which may spell their defeat.

Spells Defeat of Plan.

Minister of Interior Sarraut informed the International News Service that the note "points out firstly that the league of nations is now handling disarmament problems, and secondly that naval disarmament interests all nations not only the five big powers."

"France can't take the problem of disarmament from the league of nations—that is the fist of the note," said M. Sarraut.

International News Service learns that the French reply leaves little in the way of a loophole for any counter-proposals and in French circles it is generally believed that it spells the end of the Coolidge proposals.

Italy, it is learned, has indicated that she sympathizes with the French viewpoint and even in Great Britain, the admiralty has some objects to offer which might prevent a complete acceptance by the British government.

The next move of President Coolidge is awaited here with keen interest.

Japan's Stand on Cruisers.

TOKIO, Feb. 15.—Japan is willing to participate in President Coolidge's armament parley, Premier Wakatsuki told the government peers today, but it is impossible for the government to cancel the appropriation for three cruisers.

The premier's statement was made before the upper house of the diet and in answer to questions concerning President Coolidge's proposals.

The premier declared Japan's naval and military forces were at a minimum strength.

No Reduction of Armament.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—France's decision to reject President Coolidges overtures for a new naval disarmament conference was accepted in Washington today as indicating there will be no effective reduction of armament, either on land or sea, for a long time to come.

The powers will reconvene in Geneva next month, under the auspices of the league of nations, to talk about it. They talked about it for six months last year without making any appreciable headway, and there is little expectation here that renewed discussions will get any further.

American delegates who spent tedious hours in the Geneva meeting reported to administration officials that the conference was seemingly futile. They said the gathering was dominated by France and her small continental allies, and that it was useless to continue discussions wherein countries that had no navies had an equal vote on naval questions with those powers possessing great navies.

The Anglo-American position was and is that naval disarmament should be dealt with by those powers having naval establishments, and that land disarmament should be dealt with by those powers having a vital interest in the size of neighboring military establishments. This position has been consistently rejected in the Geneva gatherings in accordance with the French thesis that land and sea questions are interdependent. Consequently, the Geneva conference has seen Czecho-Slovakia, Jugo-Slavia and Poland gravely voting with France on naval questions, even though they possess no navies that could be affected by the conclusions reached.

It was to end this farcial situation that President Coolidge proposed that the naval powers equip their delegates with authority to actually make a new naval treaty upon their return to Geneva. His memorandum was addressed only to the naval powers Great Britain, Japan, France and Italy.

CHAPTER FORTY.

"Why don't you kill me at once and have done with it?" I muttered at last, from which it may be judged how low my spirit had fallen.

"That most foolish and impulsive action. Excellent English proverb say 'Murder will out.' Always foolish kill person unless no other way. We not kill you, Mr. Quexter. You join Doctor Kuntz's home permanently. That much better plan. No corpses, no inconvenience of dead bodies, or in or in strong words of remarkable American poet, no 'stale cadavers blocking up the passage.' You quite safe in Home."

"But you can't keep me here for ever," I burst out, the thought of returning to that mad crew being altogether too much for my self-control.

"Not necessary to keep patient very long, Mr. Quexter. You very ill and live perhaps for only very little time. You dangerous drug fiend; vey bad case."

He smiled upon me with an affected expression of sympathetic interest.

"I've never taken a drug in my life," I protested.

"No? Is that so—yess?" he answered. "Then tomorrow you begin very interesting experience. First two or three doses, pehaps unpleasant. After that craving comes quickly and no need to use persuasion."

He paused and looked at me as though waiting for some comment.

"You strong man, Mr. Quexter," he went on. "Last longer than most patients, perhaps eight months, perhaps nine months, possibly even one year. Then you go way of all flesh and we bury you in well-appointed cemetery attached to Nursing Home after Doctor Kuntz has performed autopsy examination in interests of medical research."

He leaned back in his chair, affably smiling. My brain refused to grasp immediately the fate in store for me, and it was only after the lapse of some moments that it dawned on me what I was to suffer. I was to be forcibly drugged till the will-destroying power of cocaine had done its work, when I should crave and whine for my own destruction like the demented creatures with whom I had been confined.

As the full horror of this revealed itself. I gave a hoarse cry, for I had no proper control over my voice, and started forward, forgetting all about the watcher in the press. The Center, however, was watching me closely. I had not left my chair when I heard the door of the press fly open, and a moment later a thin, well greased rope of great strength was slipped over my head, pinioning my arms to my side and cutting short in mid career my spring at his throat.

At that I went quite mad.

"You infernal blackguard," I shouted.

I made desperate efforts to reach him and found myself struggling furiously with two of his white-clad servants. Deprived of the use of my arms, I could, of course, do little, though I landed one of them a kick in the pit of the stomach which laid him gasping on the carpet. The cursed rope, however, seemed almost as though it were alive. It twisted itself round my thighs and ankles, and I was soon trussed up as tightly as a fowl. Presently I stood breathing hard and powerless to move beside two chairs which had been overturned during the struggle.

All this time the Center had remained quietly at his desk, seemingly unconscious of what was passing, and I became aware that he was not alone. Some one stood beside him, and with lifht of hope I saw that it was Patience. She was in a blue-green dressing gown, exquisitely embroidered with gold, and held a candle in one hand.

"Patience," I cried desperately, and then again, "Patience."

The Center rose when I called her name. For a moment he was a man transformed. His narrow eyes were half shut, and he hissed something in Japanese between his teeth, his body taut and quivering with a sudden spasm of uncontrollable passion.

Patience looked at him a moment, indulgently reproving.

"Really," she said to him, playfully affectionate, "you don't mean to say that you're jealous of big Robert."

She laid a hand on his shoulder. He almost spat at her like some wild cat, and then, recovering himself suddenly, he turned to me, again composed and smiling.

"Mr. Quexter," he said politely, "for moment I forget. I think you already met this honorable lady, but not on social footing. Allow me to introduce you my wife."

I found myself, after an incoherent interval, back in my old room from which I had made my disastrous exploration of the secret passage a few hours previously. The servants of the Center had placed me on my bed, cut my bonds and withdrawn, locking the door after them. I lay inert for I do not know how long, trying to realize the fate in store for me and to find the courage with which to face that sordid process which was to end in my death in delirium.

The one thing I fancy which kept me still master of myself was the feeling of anger and resentment with which I thought of Patience. I saw now only too clearly as I lay staring into the darkness how she had played with me all along. For her I was but one more sensation in a life which fed on sensation. The thought was bitter. Patience was married to the Center; I was filled with rage and humiliation. Yet, I could not help thinking curiously of the situation which so affronted me. How had this strange partnership come about? Was it a union of inclination, or had she merely sold herself for adventure, or for wealth? Was she really fond of that strange man, fascinated by his intriguing personality and his perverted but brilliant mind? Had I, even now, anything to hope from her interest or intervention? Or would she heartlessly accept, or perhaps even assist in my undoing?

Hopelessly at a loss, I dismissed her at last from my thoughts and considered by own position. In the morning presumably Kuntz, under the orders of the Center, would administer the first dose of whatever drug—morphia, heroin or cocaine—to which they had decided I should fall a victim. My only chance of escaping that dose was to find a way out of the room and out of the house before they came.

I rose from the bed and examined the door. It was solid and quite beyond my powers to break down. The window, as I have already said, opened inwards and was secured on the outside by strong iron bars cemented to the outer wall and quite immovable without a file. I bethought me of the secret passage and pressed the graven mouth of the holdback confining the curtains, with a vague idea of climbing up the chimney to the roof and seeking once more a way of escape by that route. Turn and twist as I would, however, there was no corresponding click, and the wall above my bed remained close shut. Evidently that passage had been barred by order of the Center.

In despair I retuned to my bed and after a time fell into an uneasy doze.

I awoke to find the room full of daylight. The voice of birds sounded outside, and the newly begun day looked ineffably sweet and inviting in comparison with my surroundings. Finding water in the jug at the washstand, I washed and made shift to shave, not knowing whether I should ever be allowed, or indeed have any inclination for, the decencies of civilization after my "cure" had begun.

In any case, I was determined to make a fight for it, unavailing though it would be. I accordingly sat down not far from the door, ready to assault the first person who opened it, and, if posible, to fight my way out of the room. Nor did I have to wait very long before I heard footsteps sounding in the corridor outside. They approached softly but firmly, and, clenching my fists, I made ready for the appearance of Doctor Kuntz, or whomever it was the Center had detailed to carry out the process of drugging me. Just outside the door the footsteps ceased and I stood motionless, my eyes fast on the door knob.

It turned slowly, and I braced myself for the blow. Then the door swung back suddenly, and at the last moment I abandoned my assault in mid-delivery.

It was Patience who entered.

What's What in Washington

BY CHARLES R STEWART

VETERAN RAILROADER TRYING TO SOLVE FARMER'S PROBLEMS

By Charles P. Stewart.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—B. F. Yoakum, the railroad man, has been one of the most picturesque figures Washington has seen during the fight over farm relief legislation. For years he was the chief executive of various western railroads.

BENJAMIN YOAKUM

"B. F." views the farm problem with all the intensity of a railroader whose lines are dependent on an agricultural country for the bulk of their traffic, who realizes that said lines can't prosper unless the country they serve is prosperous, and who certainly wants to see his roads making money.

Hence, as a railroad man, he's about the most enthusiastic rooter for the farmer's interests of any individual who frequently visits the capital.

"B. F." is a farm co-operation plugger.

He can't see any equalization measure for the farmer as anything but a stimulant, which, if it gives a false sense of exaltation to argiculture for awhile, is sure to end in delirium tremens.

The agricultural invalid, he says, wants, not dope, but an operation.

He recommends the removal of the middleman and the speculator.

"B. F." may be right or wrong as to his diagnosis, but there's no doubt about its sincerity. He honestly wants agriculture to be healthy, in order to have it as a good, active customer for his railroads.

The agricultural co-operative operation has been performed on a small—that is to say, a statewide—scale, with excellent results, "B. F." points out.

But how, he asks, can an intra-state operation be expected to give more than purely local relief to an inter-state patient, suffering from an inter-state malady?

What "B. F." wants is national agricultural co-operation, and he says an operation of federal proportions is required to make it possible.

In simplest language, B. F. Yoakum wants to cut everybody out of agriculture but producer, consumer, and transportation agent, between them.

But unless the government provides the liaison, he doesn't believe it's possible. Otherwise it's to the interest of too many brokers to chip in and reap a profit out of the transaction.

That's why he demands federal legislation.

"B. F." is about the only survival of the original railroad builders, on a large scale, in the country.

The southwest was his field, and he started with a construction crew.

He shoveled dirt and laid ties on the lines he subsequently was president of. He never was a wivel chair railroader.

He's a tall, big-boned old man, with the face of a fighter.

"B. F." created states like Texas. He found the raw material and developed it, with a pick and shovel and at the end of a six-gun.

He has his adverse critics, who say times have changed and that he no longer knows, from his offices in New York, what the new west requires.

All the same, he had a large share in building it. He had a distinct idea how he expected it to turn out and if it doesn't answer up to his anticipations, he's decidedly emphatic in saying so.

English Capital Boasts Artificial Rink for All-year Skaters

LONDON.—Once more there is to be all-year skating in London.

A palatial building, where it is always winter, has been put up at Grosevenor Road, London, for the benefit of those who want curling and skating without having to go abroad to a winter resort.

It will be known as the London Ice Club and will be the first time for ten years that the city has had an artificial ice rink.

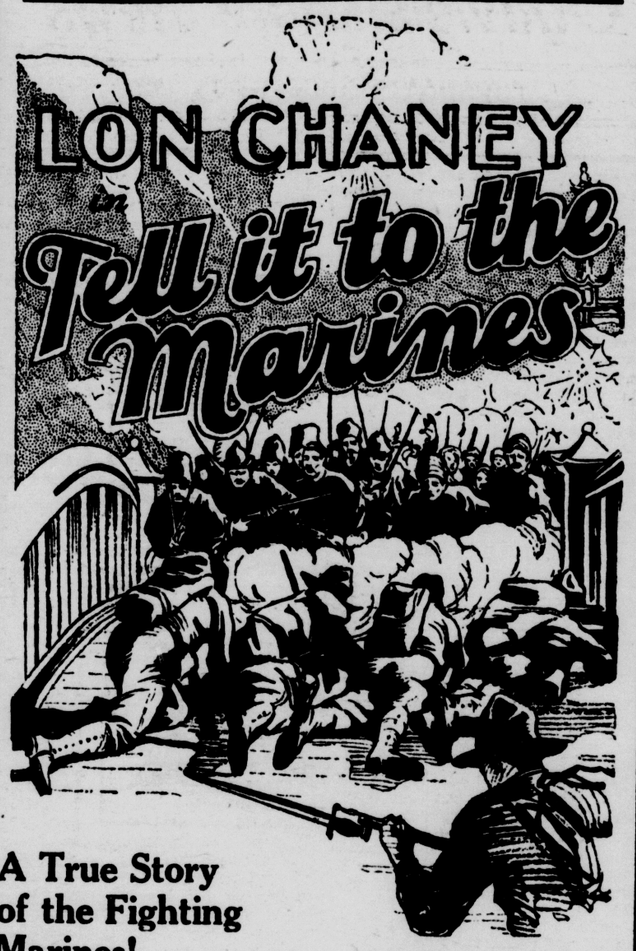

The club will be run exclusively on social lines, and its 16,000 square feet of ice will be for members and their friends only. Life memberships cost $500 and there will be an entrance fee of $65 and an annual subscription fee of the same amount.

The ice rink is 170 feet long and 100 feet wide. Underneath the concrete bed is an extensive system of piping of the refrigerating apparatus.

British figure skating championships will be held there next March and the world's championships probably the year after.

"[illegible] because the Oakland Six is built to a degree of precision previously unknown in cars of its price"

You need not make any extended comparisons to understand why the Greater Oakland Six is so emphatically preferred by those who demand of their cars not only satisfying beauty and performance but also unusually long life and reliability.

$1095 SEDAN

The answer lies in the fundamental principle of Oakland construction—because the Oakland Six is built to a degree of precision previously unknown in cars of its price!

True, Oakland provides unexampled beauty and style by the use of superior Fisher bodies; and an extraordinary agility, smoothness and silence by employing such advanced engineering features as the exclusive Rubber-Silenced Chassis and the Harmonic Balancer.

But by working to limits that once typified the hand-built car, by following such extraordinary practices as diamond boring all piston pin bushings and balancing all rotating parts from transmission to rear axle—

—Oakland achieves a resistance to wear, tear and road shock that actually borders on the unbelievable!

You need only to talk to veteran Oakland owners—or observe veteran Oakland Sixes in action—to understand why the trend of fine car buying continues to swing so strongly toward the Greater Oakland Six.

No Death In The Mail

Congress has atoned for long neglect of a notorious evil by enacting a law denying the use of the mails for carrying pistols and revolvers. This measure, the Miller bill, recently signed by President Coolidge, is excellent as far as it goes. Deadly weapons capable of being concealed on the person may still be made and sold freely, to robbers and murderers as well as respectable folk, as far as Uncle Sam is concerned; but Uncle refuses to collaborate with the criminals by bringing the weapons to them.

This will stop a considerable mail order trade in such weapons. If any legitimate interests are thereby harmed, that is lamentable but cannot be helped. Any injustice done, however, will be only temporary. Some of the mail order houses had already stopped mailing pocket firearms, from a sense of public duty.

There remains the possibility of criminals obtaining weapons from private sources. The firearms are still manufactured without restriction, and likewise sold without restriction in many states, and this situation results in a fairly easy and safe contraband traffic in states which have regulatory laws. Unless uniform state legislation can be obtained to correct this evil, the federal government eventally will be obliged to go the whole distance, and exercise federal control itself over the entire firearms industry.

Japs And Americans

A hundred Japanese schoolboys who toured the western part of the United States last summer have been writing their impressions, and their report surprises a lot of people on both sides of the Pacific. In general they find more to praise than blame in America. One of their most unexpected verdicts is that Americans in public places are more polite than Japanese in their own homes.

Here is one young man's comment on our own people, not especially complimentary, but illuminating:

"Americans like sports, particularly the kind of acrobatic sports that give thrills. Moreover, they like betting. They like noisy music instead of a decent kind. They are fond of comic motion pictures and in every town there are amusement parks where crowds of children and grown-ups make all sorts of fuss. Judging from these traits, I can say that they are naughty, cheerful, innocent, simple-hearted people."

Really, isn't that about the truth? And now for Jap comment on the Japanese problem in this country:

"I presume it is natural enough," writes another youth, "that Japanese are not welcomed in America, because they live in dirty wooden dwellings, clad in unclean, worn-out clothes, and work hard every day. They keep themselves from social affairs, being eager only to save money and then return to their homes. I think it is only reasonable that Americans exclude Japanese. They should act like Americans and not be unsightly. They might well stay there after they have saved money. They would do more good for Japan by staying than by coming back to their motherland where the population increases by 700,000 yearly."

It is a good thing to have Japanese lads speaking so plainly to their own people. It would be equally good if 100 American lads were to visit Japan and give their opinions of that country, in comparison with our own.

Radio Beacons

Light beacons are useful for aircraft, as lighthouses are for ships at sea. The United States government has been establishing such beacons along its chief mail routes, for night flying. But there is a new and more wonderful device to guide the air pilot, which works by radio and makes no light at all.

It is called the "radio beacon." It shows the pilot continuously, by means of radio signals, whether he is flying in the right direction.

In a trial the other day, an airplane flew from Detroit to Dayton and back, depending on radio beacons alone to direct its course, and experienced no difficulty whatever. Such a device has been used occasionally by army fliers. It will probably be applied to all commercial flying in the future, supplemented by the lights which must be depended on for landing in the dark.

The fine thing about this directional method is that it will work equally well by day or night and make the pilot almost independent of weather. For this reason it is likely to be used also by steamships hereafter, enabling them to keep on their course more accurately than they could if depending on the compass alone. It should be especially useful in a fog.

Who could ever have imagined 20 years ago, a mechanical voice coming out of empty space at the will of a traveler, by day or night, telling him unfailingly when he is on the right course and instantly warning him when he deviates from it? Here is magic greater than Aladdin's.

A rose by any other name might smell as sweet, but wouldn't sell so well; and so the Florida fruit growers insist on calling the "alligator pear" by its polite name of "avocado."

Some of us, after observing Mexico for the last decade or two, can't quite see why anybody should want to own any of it for as much as 50 years.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY
By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—The Sixty Club, for many years a weekly, midnight-to-dawn roundup for people of the stage and screen has apparently expeired of inanition. Gate-crashers changed it from a social celebrity gathering into a sort of commercialized jag.

Uninvited, but tolerated, brash young counter jumpers on the loose filled the dance floor and black eyes and dangling teeth resulted. It was notu nusual for a patrol wagon or ambulance to back up and cart away a casualty or so.

So hilarious did the gatherings grow that several near tragedies resulted—one young lady, after leaving the club, fell down stairs and broke her spine. The actual members, meditating upon these larks, dropped their membership in hot haste.

In its stead arose the Mayfair Club which is maintaining the exclusiveness intended for the original organization. Only the members may invite guests and the number is limited. The noticeable dereliction brings an "All tables reserved" dictum from the head waiter.

Stage and screen stars are becoming acutely conscious of the fact unsavory gossip has a decided effect on box office values. Because they are in the public eye, stories about them are usually exaggerated. A slowly sipped cocktail may be bloated to an attack of D. T.'s.

Stage and movie producers have proved in the counting rooms that those with enduring drawing power are those whose reputations have not been besmirched. Scandal often draws a few curious, but that is all. It won't buy limousines, pearls and things.

Nothing—not even the Egyptian obelisk, the art gallery or the Shakespeare garden—seems to excite so much curious interest in Central Park as the lone kindfaced cow in the rolling pasture near Sixty-Sixth street. There is always a crowd gazing over the fence at this pastoral touch so near the city's jangle. It is especially interesting to tenement children who have never seen a cow. Their eyes saucer with awe.

A New Yorker, taking his fifth bride, received this wire from a friend: "Congratulations. It is so like you to be marrying someone."

It is announced future buildings on Fifth Avenue may be limited to six or seven stories. New York changes too rapidly and 50-storied sky-scrapers are likely to become obsolete in ten years, thus resulting in a tremendous financial loss. The idea is to build them quick and tear them down.

An indignant traveler sends a burning letter to a newspaper, complaining he became so interested in the art gallery in the Grand Central Terminal he missed two trains for the west. That's taking up art and making it hum.

I saw John D. Rockefeller, Jr., turn on the sidewalk to observe a professional dancer in one of those half block long automobiles with uniformed chauffeur and foot man sitting in the front seat as immobile as if chipped from stone. And there he was walking in the cold.

And on Park Avenue a few weeks ago I saw a man wearing a silk hat and fur collared coat in a dog trot pulling a child along on a bob sled.

Long hair for ladies is making some headway. Three, well-known for their beauty, have permitted their tresses to grow and are adopting a slicked-back, parted in the middle with a knot in the back effect. Somewhat like Maggie of the comic strip.

SPOKEN IN PASSING.

When you hear two natural wheezes, both unintentional, in one day at one place you are entitled, I think, to enter that date in your calendar with red ink. In my own personal experience I recall only one such.

It was in June of 1918, over in France. A negro regiment had gone in under fire and the punishment being heavy and the troops being green at actual warfare, one battalion had broken. Stragglers were sifting back through the supporting lines.

A small yellow private came hurrying rearward. Men of a white regiment lying alongside the road waiting for the order to advance began guying him for his haste. Some of them were so ungracious as to recall that the colored boys the night before had been bragging of what they meant to do to the enemy. In reply to a particularly barbed taunt the retreating soldier, without slacking his gait, cast a sidewise glance over his shoulder and said:

"Lis'sen we now admits we aint no bear cats!"

A few minutes large a big black soldier passed, also moving toward the real with speed. In reply to a question as to why his company had broken he halted just long enough to say.

"Co'se we pulled out. Dey didn't give us no propah suppote! Why, day didn't even give us no garage!"

HASKIN'S LETTER
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Automobile Data.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Automobile data for 1926 as compiled by Alfred Reeves for the American Automobile association reveal every pertinent fact relating directly to the great industry txcept how many millions or billions Henry Ford is worth and the comparative earnings of General Motors and other big corporations. Armed with the Reeves table you can tell in a jiffy whether your neighbor paid cash for his car or bought it on the installment plan, whether he fictionizes about the number of miles he gets per gallon of gas, and what the lowdown is on his tire consumption.

For the year the total production of motor vehicles was 4,480,000, as compared with 4,336,754 in 1925. Of the grand aggregate, 530,000 were trucks. The production of closed cars reached 2,926,000, which was 74 per cent of the total output, and far and away a larger percentage than ever before.

Translating these figures into money it is found that the wholesale value of the 1926 cars was $2,622,450,000 and that of the trucks $434,500,000 a total of well over three billions.

The number of tires manufactured during the year was 63,000,000 and the wholesale value of motor vehicle tires for replacement was $775,000,000. Parts and accessories for replacement were valued at $600,000,000. Motor vehicle taxes amounted to $735,226,000.

The average retail price of cars was $886 and that of trucks $1,090. These figures would seem to indicate that the retailer's margin is from 20 to 25 per cent.

In all there are about 3,500,000 persons employed in the motor vehicle and allied lines, but no information is available as to how much they find in their pay envelopes each week. It is a safe assumption, however, that the larger part of the three billion-odd dollars of wholesale value of cars and trucks produced during the year and a fair share of the retailers' margin went for wages and salaries.

Registration Figures.

The total number of motor vehicles registered in the United States in 1926 was 22,330,000. They would make a parade that would extend around the earth at the equator and they'd have to be driven too close together for safety. In the whole world there were registered approximately 27,500,000 motor vehicles, which gives this country 81 per cent of the total. That the farmer is going in strong for the steeds that feed on gas instead of hay and oats is shown by the fact that almost 5,000,000 of the motor vehicles in the United States are on farms.

There are in all 3,001,825 miles of highways in this country, of which 560,000 miles are surfaced or improved roads. Detours have not been counted.

Now, as to how it is possible for so many people to own and operate cars when you know that they really could not afford to buy and maintain a pair of roller skates, be it known that 64 per cent of the new cars, and an unknown percentage of the used cars, are sold on the installment plan. That is to say, almost two-thirds of the cars you see on city streets and country highways have mortgages on them. The average note at time of purchase is, for new cars, $595, and for used cars, $277, while the grand total of automobile paper that was outstanding at the end of last year was $1,378,000,000.

Taking up the question of the automobile's relation to other business, it is found that 3,160,000 carloads of automotive freight were shipped over the railroads of the country last year; of the rubber imported into this country the automobile industry takes 83 per cent, and it takes 50 per cent of the plate glass that is manufactured, 12 per cent of the copper that is producted, and an equal proportion of the iron and steel that is turned out every twelve-month.

Gasoline consumed by motor vehicles during the year amounted to 8,650,000,000 gallons while the oil consumption ran to 560,000,000 gallons. These figures might be so analyzed as to throw some light on the moot question whether the Fords or the Rockefellers have most of the money in the world, but Mr. Reeves makes no offering along that line. He does, however, state that 712,891,000 pounds of crude rubber were used in automobile tires in 1926, which would explain the earnings of the British rubber monopoly. Also, it is to be noted that 227,512,000 pounds of cotton fabric were used in the tires, which should have been a big help to the cotton growers of the South.

Buses Increase in Number.

During the year 15,000 motor buses were produced and 80,000 were in operation. Many of these buses are used for transporting school children in rural districts, the number of consolidated schools using motor transportation during the year being 15,332. Street railways—344 of them—operated 7,000 buses, while 41 railroads operated 510 buses. Railroads using gasoline rail motor coaches on short lines numbered 190, and 60 railroads operated motor trucks as part of their shipping service.

Figures on the retail end of the motor vehicle business, aside from the

No Death In The Mail

Congress has atoned for long neglect of a notorious evil by enacting a law denying the use of the mails for carrying pistols and revolvers. This measure, the Miller bill, recently signed by President Coolidge, is excellent as far as it goes. Deadly weapons capable of being concealed on the person may still be made and sold freely, to robbers and murderers as well as respectable folk, as far as Uncle Sam is concerned; but Uncle refuses to collaborate with the criminals by bringing the weapons to them.

This will stop a considerable mail order trade in such weapons. If any legitimate interests are thereby harmed, that is lamentable but cannot be helped. Any injustice done, however, will be only temporary. Some of the mail order houses had already stopped mailing pocket firearms, from a sense of public duty.

There remains the possibility of criminals obtaining weapons from private sources. The firearms are still manufactured without restriction, and likewise sold without restriction in many states, and this situation results in a fairly easy and safe contraband traffic in states which have regulatory laws. Unless uniform state legislation can be obtained to correct this evil, the federal government eventally will be obliged to go the whole distance, and exercise federal control itself over the entire firearms industry.

Japs And Americans

A hundred Japanese schoolboys who toured the western part of the United States last summer have been writing their impressions, and their report surprises a lot of people on both sides of the Pacific. In general they find more to praise than blame in America. One of their most unexpected verdicts is that Americans in public places are more polite than Japanese in their own homes.

Here is one young man's comment on our own people, not especially complimentary, but illuminating:

"Americans like sports, particularly the kind of acrobatic sports that give thrills. Moreover, they like betting. They like noisy music instead of a decent kind. They are fond of comic motion pictures and in every town there are amusement parks where crowds of children and grown-ups make all sorts of fuss. Judging from these traits, I can say that they are naughty, cheerful, innocent, simple-hearted people."

Really, isn't that about the truth? And now for Jap comment on the Japanese problem in this country:

"I presume it is natural enough," writes another youth, "that Japanese are not welcomed in America, because they live in dirty wooden dwellings, clad in unclean, worn-out clothes, and work hard every day. They keep themselves from social affairs, being eager only to save money and then return to their homes. I think it is only reasonable that Americans exclude Japanese. They should act like Americans and not be unsightly. They might well stay there after they have saved money. They would do more good for Japan by staying than by coming back to their motherland where the population increases by 700,000 yearly."

It is a good thing to have Japanese lads speaking so plainly to their own people. It would be equally good if 100 American lads were to visit Japan and give their opinions of that country, in comparison with our own.

Rev. L. S. Hoover Speaks in Oakland Church.

Evangelist L. S. Hoover, Tionesta, Pa., who opened a revival campaign Sunday in the Oakland Free Methodist church, spoke to a large crowd last night on the subject, "Moral Certainty."

He spoke in part as follows: "A saving knowledge of God's forgiveness of our sins is absolutely essential to our peace. If we could not know we had salvation we would not know when we lost it if we should lose it and we could never have peace.

"There is a positive note in every Christian testimony, 'we know we have passed from death unto life' is the universal standard of christian experience.

"The question arises, 'How do Christians know they are saved?' The answer is, first by faith. When a soul repents and meets conditions of salvation as made known in God's word and then believes the promise—it is so because God says so. Again, they know by the consciousness of spiritual life imparted to the soul in regeneration the desires of spiritual life are so different from the sinner's natural desires that it is very noticeable. If any man be in Christ he is a new creature. Old things have passed away and behold all things have become new.

"Then again they know by the direct witness of the holy spirit to the new born soul. The spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit that we are, not shall be, the children of God. Every real christian knows how, when and where they were converted and has present assurance of sins forgiven.

"Do you know you are saved. If not you are not saved; seek ye the work while He may be found and become the happy possessor of a know so salvation."

Rev. Mr. Hoover will have as his subject tonight "The Fairness of the Gospel Offer."

Los Angeles Leads Cities of World in Tubs and Showers

LOS ANGELES. — Los Angeles has more tubs and showers for bathing purposes than any other city in the world.

This was the text of a communication sent to Dr. George Parrish, health commissioner, by M. S. Siegel, of the Bureau of Housing and Sanitation, the other day.

Siegel's conclusion is based on the strict observance of the state housing and sanitation laws which provide for baths in every home and in a majority of business establishments.

Even in Los Angeles' Chinatown there are bath tubs, Siegel declared.

Siegel in his letter also intimates that the baths both in Chinatown and elsewhere are regularly used, basing this conclusion on the huge daily consumption of water.

matter of prices and how automobile purchases are financed, show that there are in the United States 53,360 car and truck dealers. It is interesting to note, too, that there is an almost equal number of public garages, 51,715, to be exact, while there are 83,758 service stations and repair shops and 66,584 supply stores.

Somewhat more than 10 per cent of the motor vehicles produced in the United States last year—550,000—were exported, their total value, including spare part, engines, and tires being $475,000,000. The increase in this export business was for the year three per cent. Only 820 automobiles were imported into this country in 1926, which would seem to indicate that the United States produces almost everything in automotives that people with discrimination and the means to indulge it can want.

This is the season of automobile shows all over the United States, the New York opening event being well over, and it is said that the big feature of the shows is the absence of the touring or open car. Sport cats of the roadster or runabout type are still being made, but it seems that the area of the car that was designed to give you the air, and lots of it, has passed. The customers, cash and credit, have discovered that they can get all the air they want in a car that gives them the maximum of protection against rain, snow, dust, bugs, et cetera, and that's the type of car they are buying now. At the Washington show only one open car was exhibited.

And, speaking of automobiles, how about a thought anent the traffic problem? The idea is now being agitated in Washington that the regulations should be so amended that the passing on the right of a car going in the same direction be permitted. It is contended that traffic congestion is due in a large degree to the fact that so many drivers hug the center of the street, and then drive slowly, and that there is no possible way of avoiding them except by passing on the right.

FOR Sour Stomach PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Hereafter instead of soda take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

Better Than Soda

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

Try a 25c Bottle

Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drugstore. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

Around a garage you're bound to get hurt

CRIPPLED BY PAINFUL SWELLING IN HIS LEG

Trouble gone after few applications of simple remedy

As he came in from work in the evening, a garage worker of Shreveport, La., felt a pain in his left leg above the ankle, and the next morning it was badly swollen and worried him when walking.

"I applied Sloan's Liniment to it that night," he writes, "and the pain nearly all left. I applied it again and the next day the swelling was all gone. For all aches and pains I find nothing to beat Sloan's Liniment. I keep a bottle in the garage where I work."

Sloan's gets results because it stirs up the body's own powers to heal itself. Just pat it on, and at once you can feel the fresh blood tingling through the sick tissues. Inflammation, swelling, stiffness, pain, begin to give way at once.

Get a bottle today and have it on hand. All druggists—35 cents.

Like a Boy at 50—Full of Life and Energy

Brimming Over With Vim and Vitality That Keeps Him Keen, Active and Alert!

In a recent discourse a well known New York Doctor said: "Altogether too many people, especially those between the ages of 40 and 60, are suffering from weakness, nervous disorders, kidney, bladder, prostate and liver complaints, rheumatism, neuritis, dangerously high blood pressure, stomach and intestinal troubles, sleeplessness and general debility. Yet, with the marvelous restorative Radium power supplied by ARIUM, it should be easy for them to rapidly rebuild much of their strength, power and youthful activity.

"I know of one man 50 years old who was broken in health from several of these distressing ailments, but after taking ARIUM found that his blood pressure had been reduced to that of a boy of 20, he was able to enter gaily into the sports of the young folks, go to his business with a keen, alert mind and put in long hours without fatigue. In fact, thanks to ARIUM, he was really as full of vigor, vim and vitality as when a young man."

If you want to quickly enrich your blood, strengthen your nerves, put more youthful power into the veins as well as fortify your body against disease and signs of premature old age, simply try taking ARIUM for a short time and watch results. A multitude of alarming symptoms often quickly disappear. You should see and feel a truly startling improvement in yourself each day.

NOTE: The Associated Radium Chemists, Inc., of New York, which supplies druggists with ARIUM guarantees successful and satisfactory results from its progressive use in every case or money refunded, and also that a definite quantity of genuine radium is used in its preparation. ARIUM is easy and economical to take and may now be readily obtained in this city from any good druggist such as

Chas. T. Larkins, Carnahan's, Herche's Drug Store and Mathews.

Civic Music Society Will Present Denishawn Dancers

Reservations for Special Attraction at Ceramic Theatre on Feb. 28 Will be Made on Feb. 25.

Reservations for the Denishawn Dancers, third and last number of the Civic Music association's 1926-27 course, who are scheduled to appear at the Ceramic theatre on Monday evening, February 28, will open at the theatre box office at 9 a. m., Friday, February 25.

No mail reservations will be made except to patrons in Salineville, Midland or other out-of-town places. All members are guaranteed seats as the number of tickets is limited to the seating capacity of the theatre.

The troop is headed by Ruth St. Denis and Ted Shawn, internationally known dancers. The company returned to the United States last December after an 18-month tour of the Orient.

Miss St. Denis has danced before great audiences in Europe and America for many years, and has won her unique position in the world of art largely through her interpretation of Oriental themes.

She has at last seen the East; its art, people, customs and countries. She is bringing back new impressions, new dance material, new customs and settings, but it is the spirit of the East which still claims her attention and her artistry, and it is this which she will continue to translate for us.

Miss St. Denis has experienced in India the greatest triumph of her career. When her Indian managers requested the East Indian dances, "The Saree," and the "Nautch," with her characteristic modesty she replied, "Coals to Newcastle," but at last overpersuaded, she complied, and to her great surprise found that her fame as an Indian dancer had gone from one end of that country to the other, apparently overnight.

She was immediately obliged to insert a clause in her contract which required the Indian dances to be performed at each appearance throughout the five months in which the Denishawn company appeared continuously in India, and night after night, her audiences, shouting, screaming and applauding, literally in a frenzy of delight, refused to let her go. Often times, even in the extreme heat, these dances were done three and four times.

Miss St. Denis has purchased from Genashi Lahl at Agra, from the famous old shops of Benares, Calcutta and Bombay, beautiful sarees and costumes, materials and jewelry, which she will use in the new American program, which will greatly enhance the dances, but costumes and trappings avail little without the spiritual understanding of a people whose art-forms are to be transported.

Torturing pains—the kind that pierce and burn and never seem to let up—that rob a man of his sleep—that make him just a bag of nerves and all worn out.

Those are the pains that dope and coal tar products can only partially relieve.

The safest and most efficient way to get rid of the persistent, nerve-racking pains of Neuritis is to get a bottle of Allenrhu Special Formula No. 2. Around a garage you're bound to get hurt

CRIPPLED BY PAINFUL SWELLING IN HIS LEG

Trouble gone after few applications of simple remedy

As he came in from work in the evening, a garage worker of Shreveport, La., felt a pain in his left leg above the ankle, and the next morning it was badly swollen and worried him when walking.

"I applied Sloan's Liniment to it that night," he writes, "and the pain nearly all left. I applied it again and the next day the swelling was all gone. For all aches and pains I find nothing to beat Sloan's Liniment. I keep a bottle in the garage where I work."

Sloan's gets results because it stirs up the body's own powers to heal itself. Just pat it on, and at once you can feel the fresh blood tingling through the sick tissues. Inflammation, swelling, stiffness, pain, begin to give way at once.

Get a bottle today and have it on hand. All druggists—35 cents.

Like a Boy at 50—Full of Life and Energy

Brimming Over With Vim and Vitality That Keeps Him Keen, Active and Alert!

In a recent discourse a well known New York Doctor said: "Altogether too many people, especially those between the ages of 40 and 60, are suffering from weakness, nervous disorders, kidney, bladder, prostate and liver complaints, rheumatism, neuritis, dangerously high blood pressure, stomach and intestinal troubles, sleeplessness and general debility. Yet, with the marvelous restorative Radium power supplied by ARIUM, it should be easy for them to rapidly rebuild much of their strength, power and youthful activity.

"I know of one man 50 years old who was broken in health from several of these distressing ailments, but after taking ARIUM found that his blood pressure had been reduced to that of a boy of 20, he was able to enter gaily into the sports of the young folks, go to his business with a keen, alert mind and put in long hours without fatigue. In fact, thanks to ARIUM, he was really as full of vigor, vim and vitality as when a young man."

If you want to quickly enrich your blood, strengthen your nerves, put more youthful power into the veins as well as fortify your body against disease and signs of premature old age, simply try taking ARIUM for a short time and watch results. A multitude of alarming symptoms often quickly disappear. You should see and feel a truly startling improvement in yourself each day.

NOTE: The Associated Radium Chemists, Inc., of New York, which supplies druggists with ARIUM guarantees successful and satisfactory results from its progressive use in every case or money refunded, and also that a definite quantity of genuine radium is used in its preparation. Civic Music Society Will Present Denishawn Dancers

Reservations for Special Attraction at Ceramic Theatre on Feb. 28 Will be Made on Feb. 25.

Reservations for the Denishawn Dancers, third and last number of the Civic Music association's 1926-27 course, who are scheduled to appear at the Ceramic theatre on Monday evening, February 28, will open at the theatre box office at 9 a. m., Friday, February 25.

No mail reservations will be made except to patrons in Salineville, Midland or other out-of-town places. All members are guaranteed seats as the number of tickets is limited to the seating capacity of the theatre.

The troop is headed by Ruth St. Denis and Ted Shawn, internationally known dancers. The company returned to the United States last December after an 18-month tour of the Orient.

Miss St. Denis has danced before great audiences in Europe and America for many years, and has won her unique position in the world of art largely through her interpretation of Oriental themes.

She has at last seen the East; its art, people, customs and countries. She is bringing back new impressions, new dance material, new customs and settings, but it is the spirit of the East which still claims her attention and her artistry, and it is this which she will continue to translate for us.

Miss St. Denis has experienced in India the greatest triumph of her career. When her Indian managers requested the East Indian dances, "The Saree," and the "Nautch," with her characteristic modesty she replied, "Coals to Newcastle," but at last overpersuaded, she complied, and to her great surprise found that her fame as an Indian dancer had gone from one end of that country to the other, apparently overnight.

She was immediately obliged to insert a clause in her contract which required the Indian dances to be performed at each appearance throughout the five months in which the Denishawn company appeared continuously in India, and night after night, her audiences, shouting, screaming and applauding, literally in a frenzy of delight, refused to let her go. Often times, even in the extreme heat, these dances were done three and four times.

Miss St. Denis has purchased from Genashi Lahl at Agra, from the famous old shops of Benares, Calcutta and Bombay, beautiful sarees and costumes, materials and jewelry, which she will use in the new American program, which will greatly enhance the dances, but costumes and trappings avail little without the spiritual understanding of a people whose art-forms are to be transported.

Imports into the United States last year were nearly two and one-half times those of 1914.

OHIO PROPOSAL PUTS BAN ON CIGARETTE ADVERTISING

ANTI-FAG BILL HITS DISPLAYS ON BILLBOARDS

Montgomery County Man Seeks to "Protect Childhood."

HEAVY PENALTIES

Columbiana Representative Sponsors Institute Measure.

By C. H. HADDOX.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 15.—A bill forbidding advertisements of cigarettes where children under 21 years of age will see them, and prohibiting persons from giving cigarettes to minors for advertising purposes is pending in the Ohio house of representatives today.

It was introduced by Representative J. W. Beck, Montgomery county. In the title of the measure is the declaration that it is designed to "protect the childhood of the state."

The bill defines "advertising" as including "the showing of words, or pictures, on billboards or on any other outdoor display, or any other place where persons under 21 years of age may see such words, or pictures, as well as the furnishing, or giving away, of cigarettes to persons under 21 for advertising purposes."

Violators of the proposed act would be liable to fines ranging from $100 to $5,000 and imprisonment in the county jail from one to six months.

Representative Woehrle, Columbus, Democrat, is author of a bill providing for a single ballot at primary elections for the purpose of preventing voters from being compelled to disclose their party affiliations. All party tickets would be on one ballot. The ballot of any voter who voted for candidates on more than one ticket would be void.

A bill by Representative Ray C. Carpenter, Seneca county, would abolish the office of village treasurer and assign the duties of that office to the village clerk.

Representative B. P. Vandament, Clermont county, offered a bill providing for state highway patrolmen, under direction of the director of highways, to supervise repair and to police designated sections of the highways.

Provision that Ohio history must be taught in the seventh or eighth grades in the public schools is contained in a bill by Representative H. S. Hume, Noble county.

Recodification of present laws relating to certification of school teachers is sought in a bill introduced by Representative L. P. Mooney, Hocking county. Representative Grant P. Ward, Franklin county offered a bill increasing salaries of boards of election members and clerks in cities having more than 200 000 population each.

Fixes Date for Institutes.

Fines up to $500 and 60-day jail sentences are provided in a bill by Representative J. S. McKinley, Franklin county, for persons who enter premises for the purpose of stealing grain, fruits, vegetables, cereals, seeds, hay, wool, chickens or livestock.

Representative W. H. Van Fossen, Columbiana county, introduced a bill authorizing county boards of education to hold teachers' institutes on Saturdays during the school term.

Bills by Representative B. L. Creesy, Ashtabula county, provide that foreclosure against land for delinquent taxes, ordered by the state auditor, may be omitted if the property will not bring sufficient money, when sold, to pay court costs, and that trucks, or motor busses, shall not follow within 100 feet another such vehicle on the public highways. These vehicles must be 300 feet apart, at least, if trailers are attached.

The senate today will be asked to approve the action of the house which passed, 107 to 2, the Marshall bill providing that salaries of county officers and employes be paid semi-monthly instead of monthly.

us up, the devil dragged us down. Our business was to go in the right direction.

Astronomy has damaged that theory, and we know that above your head, or below your feet is a straight line (with apologies to Einstein). You can travel a distance equal to 1,000,000 light years, the distance light could travel at 186,000 miles a second in 1,000,000 years, and find only other stars, planets and such things. No heaven, no hell.

Now science finds that there is a sort of ceiling, only 100 miles above us. It is called "a radio ceiling," and Carnegie institute scientists prove that the strange ceiling, a layer in the atmosphere, "bends radio waves back to earth."

There is the power of gravitation that pulls solid matter back to earth. Is there a power that draws back electric substance, whatever it may be?

FOUR PERSONS ASPHYXIATED

Four Others Overcome by Escaping Gas in New York.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—Two men and two women were killed and four persons were overcome today by coal gas escaping in an apartment house in Brooklyn.

Two of the victims were married recently and were found in each other's arms. They apparently were overcome while the husband was attempting to carry his bride from their gas-filled apartment.

Of those overcome, three were children. They were revived by neighbors who entered the apartments through windows when they failed to receive responses to their knocks and found the doors were locked.

The dead:

Abraham Pollock, 30.

Mildred Pollock, his wife, 20.

Mrs. Rose Pollock, 25, sister-in-law of Abraham.

Solomon Pollock, 30, brother of Abraham.

When neighbors broke into the Pollock apartment they found Mildred and Abraham Pollock on the floor clasped in each other's arms. The janitor was held for questioning and the owner of the apartment house also was summoned.

DRUGGIST SAYS RUDNER HINTED ATTACK ON FOE

Another Blow Struck at Alleged "Pay-off" Man.

OFFER DECLINED

Expert Says Defendant Wrote Telegram Sent to McDermott.

CANTON, O., Feb. 15.—Stanley Baltzly, Massillon druggist, today told the jury trying Ben Rudner as the "pay-off" man in the murder of Don R. Mellett, vice-crusading editor, last July, that Rudner suggested to him last summer that he have a man with whom he had had trouble "beaten up."

Baltzly was recalled to the stand today because he said yesterday that he "knew a lot more."

Rudner told him that if he did not want to beat up this man himself, Baltzly testified, that he (Rudner) would furnish a couple of men to do it.

Later, Baltzly continued, Rudner came to his store, saying:

"My friends are here now. Point out that fellow and I'll have them put the works on him, if you still want him beaten up."

Baltzly declared that the offer was declined.

Max Stroub, a Canton photographer presented photographs of the telegram received by Pat McDermott, convicted "trigger man," on the morning following the Rudner murder. He also presented photographs of Rudner's handwriting. Both were offered in evidence by the state.

Dr. Henry Jenkins, handwriting expert, testified that this telegram, which read, "Take Massillon store at once or report to home office at once," was written by Rudner.

When court adjourned for the noon recess, Dr. Jenkins was still on the stand. It was learned that the defense had its own handwriting expert who would testify that Rudner could not have written the telegram in question.

Indications were that the state would not complete its case today, making more probable that the case would go over until next week.

BOY, 12, KILLS STOREKEEPER

New York Lad Admits he Slew Man in Hold-up.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—"Hello, dad I just killed a man." Proudly 12-year old Michael Ponkranshaw, confessed slayer of Marcus Gold, a storekeeper, today greeted his father from a cell in the Richmond Hill police station. With a confident wave of the hand the child stopped his father when the man pleaded with him to tell the truth.

"Sure, I'll tell you everything, dad. I'm not afraid and I like this jail anyway. It's better than at home."

"But why did you do it, son?" asked the grief-stricken father.

"Why I was hungry," the boy explained calmly. "I wanted to get some money to buy coffee and cakes."

Michael had run away from home a few days ago, and last night he became hungry. He walked into Gold's store and displaying a gun ordered the man to "stick 'em up." As the storekeeper hurriedly complied, the gun went off, and he crumpled up on the floor. A policeman arrived and caught Michael as he was leaving by a window.

"Oh, I'm sorry I shot the man," the boy told the police. "But I had to have the money. I was desperate. I went into the store to pull this hold-up like I'd read about, and the gun went off. I was plenty scared. I knew he was dead from the funny way he looked. And I tried to get away but the policeman came and pointed his gun at me, and I dropped mine quick you bet."

Michael took the gun from his father's desk before running away from home, he said. He didn't mean to use it except to scare people.

But he didn't seem to feel any remorse.

Explosion Wrecks Home

night. Neither suffered any ill effects from the blast.

Mr. and Mrs. Batey, who were spending the evening on Thompson hill, heard the explosion. Batey reached the scene within a few minutes.

Mr. and Mrs. Pomeroy, whose home adjoins the Batey house, are visiting in Chicago.

Damaged Beyond Repair.

Although Batey was unable to explain the cause of the blast, it is believed the gas escaping from a broken joint ignited either from the furnace which is fired by coal or from the water heater, also located in the basement.

Most of the furnishings in the house were ruined by the explosion.

Inasmuch as no explosion insurance was carried on the building, the damage is a total loss except for that sustained by fire.

Building contractors who inspected the wreckage of the home today expressed the opinion that the place was too badly damaged to be repaired. An effort may be made to save the roof of the house by supporting it on braces while the new side walls are being constructed.

Sunday Blue Law Hearing Ends in Swapping of Blows

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Rioting and fist-fighting, in which members of congress and a churchman swapped blows, women screamed, and tables and chairs were overturned, broke up a congressional hearing today on a bill which would establish Sunday blue laws in the district of Columbia.

Representative L. Blanton, Democrat, of Texas, and Representative Sol Bloom, Democrat, of New York, had a personal encounter which wound up with Bloom lying across the table with the Texan on top of him.

While this was going on, the official reporter went to the floor under impact of the fist of Harvey L. Bowlby, secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance.

Blanton also knocked down L. B. Schloss, proprietor of an amusement park, who attempted to pull him off Bloom.

There were almost a thousand people in the committee room when the melee started, and there were several side fights among the spectators. The identities of the combatants were lost in the confusion of screaming women and general panic.

One woman in the rear of the room mounted a chair and began praying in a loud voice.

HOME TRAINING PASTOR'S TOPIC

Failure of Home is Great Tragedy, Says Rev. B. R. Johnson.

The "failure of the home" was characterized as one of the "greatest tragedies of the world today" by Rev. B. R. Johnson, pastor of the First Church of Christ, in his sermon on the subject, "The Youth of Today," at last night's evangelistic service.

One person professed conversion.

Tonight, Rev. Mr. Johnson will preach on "How to Escape from Evil." Rev. Clarence Hanna, Cleveland, will render special vocal numbers. Residents of Pleasant Heights will attend the services.

In last evening's sermon he said:

"We cannot discuss this subject about the youth until we have first taken into consideration the home-life and home-training of our boys and girls. Many times were find the child born into the wrong home. Too often we find that the child is unwanted in the home; too often the child is born into an unchristian home. But, is the child responsible for this?

"One of the greatest tragedies of the world today is the fall of the home. In this day of jazz and society, in this day of excitement, the home is only a place where we eat one or two meals and where we come to sleep. Many times the home is the place for ornament and the boys and girls are not permitted to play and romp like children want to do.

"Too often we find that parents are not companions for their children: they are not acquainted with their son and daughter. Then, if the youth of today does wrong, place the blame upon the home and the parents. Parents should resume the responsibility of training their children in the way they should go.

"Another obstacle in the path of youth today is the lack of an education. Opportunities come to the youth and they are not prepared for them because they have not been educated. Many times the youth are saying to leave the great tasks of the world to someone else instead of preparing themselves for that task.

"Someday in the future minister, doctors, lawyers, poets and writers will be needed and who will fill that position? It will be that boy and girl who is resting in mothers' lap. It will be the one who has prepared for that position. Why is it that we see so many young men around on the street corners with nothing to do? Why are they not preparing themselves for some great task. Parents should teach their children to love an education.

"The youth of today must meet many temptations as each one of us meet them. But, they should have a guide. Is it not easy and splendid to climb the mountain when you have a guide. Christ wants to be the guide of every young life. He wants to be your companion all along the way.

"The journey of life will be so much sweeter if you will accept Him. The youth of today needs someone to guide and help them. Parents should always be a compnaion to them and teach them about God and the Christ. The youth will not fail if they accept Christ as their leader."

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—Bullish enthusiasm was stimulated in the industrial stocks in early trading today by the strength and activity of the market leaders, including U. S. Steel, General Motors and various copper, oil and independent steel stocks. Price gains in the active stocks were moderate, and mostly fractional, though specialties like International Combustion Engineering and International Harvester sold up 1 to 3 1-2 points in a heavy turnover.

Western Maryland alone of the "little rails" attracted speculative attention, the common stock advancing in good form to 32 1-2 for a new 3-point gain. At this price the stock has regained about eight points of last week's sudden break. Wheeling & Lake Erie, of sky-rocket fame, sold down 4 1-2 points at 56, while the preferred advanced fractionally to 58 5-8. Wabash and New Haven were slightly reactionary.

United States Steel bettered its best previous price for the year at 160 1-8, large blocks of the stock being taken at 160, while the new W. I. stock was active at the best prices of the year. Republic and Crucible Steel were active and firm and copper stocks firm.

Call money was in good supply at 4 per cent.

OHIO PROPOSAL PUTS BAN ON CIGARETTE ADVERTISING

ANTI-FAG BILL HITS DISPLAYS ON BILLBOARDS

Montgomery County Man Seeks to "Protect Childhood."

HEAVY PENALTIES

Columbiana Representative Sponsors Institute Measure.

By C. H. HADDOX.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 15.—A bill forbidding advertisements of cigarettes where children under 21 years of age will see them, and prohibiting persons from giving cigarettes to minors for advertising purposes is pending in the Ohio house of representatives today.

It was introduced by Representative J. W. Beck, Montgomery county. In the title of the measure is the declaration that it is designed to "protect the childhood of the state."

The bill defines "advertising" as including "the showing of words, or pictures, on billboards or on any other outdoor display, or any other place where persons under 21 years of age may see such words, or pictures, as well as the furnishing, or giving away, of cigarettes to persons under 21 for advertising purposes."

Violators of the proposed act would be liable to fines ranging from $100 to $5,000 and imprisonment in the county jail from one to six months.

Representative Woehrle, Columbus, Democrat, is author of a bill providing for a single ballot at primary elections for the purpose of preventing voters from being compelled to disclose their party affiliations. All party tickets would be on one ballot. The ballot of any voter who voted for candidates on more than one ticket would be void.

A bill by Representative Ray C. Carpenter, Seneca county, would abolish the office of village treasurer and assign the duties of that office to the village clerk.

Representative B. P. Vandament, Clermont county, offered a bill providing for state highway patrolmen, under direction of the director of highways, to supervise repair and to police designated sections of the highways.

Provision that Ohio history must be taught in the seventh or eighth grades in the public schools is contained in a bill by Representative H. S. Hume, Noble county.

Recodification of present laws relating to certification of school teachers is sought in a bill introduced by Representative L. P. Mooney, Hocking county. Representative Grant P. Ward, Franklin county offered a bill increasing salaries of boards of election members and clerks in cities having more than 200 000 population each.

Fixes Date for Institutes.

Fines up to $500 and 60-day jail sentences are provided in a bill by Representative J. S. McKinley, Franklin county, for persons who enter premises for the purpose of stealing grain, fruits, vegetables, cereals, seeds, hay, wool, chickens or livestock.

Representative W. H. Van Fossen, Columbiana county, introduced a bill authorizing county boards of education to hold teachers' institutes on Saturdays during the school term.

Bills by Representative B. L. Creesy, Ashtabula county, provide that foreclosure against land for delinquent taxes, ordered by the state auditor, may be omitted if the property will not bring sufficient money, when sold, to pay court costs, and that trucks, or motor busses, shall not follow within 100 feet another such vehicle on the public highways. These vehicles must be 300 feet apart, at least, if trailers are attached.

The senate today will be asked to approve the action of the house which passed, 107 to 2, the Marshall bill providing that salaries of county officers and employes be paid semi-monthly instead of monthly.

us up, the devil dragged us down. Our business was to go in the right direction.

Astronomy has damaged that theory, and we know that above your head, or below your feet is a straight line (with apologies to Einstein). You can travel a distance equal to 1,000,000 light years, the distance light could travel at 186,000 miles a second in 1,000,000 years, and find only other stars, planets and such things. No heaven, no hell.

Now science finds that there is a sort of ceiling, only 100 miles above us. It is called "a radio ceiling," and Carnegie institute scientists prove that the strange ceiling, a layer in the atmosphere, "bends radio waves back to earth."

There is the power of gravitation that pulls solid matter back to earth. Is there a power that draws back electric substance, whatever it may be?

FOUR PERSONS ASPHYXIATED

Four Others Overcome by Escaping Gas in New York.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—Two men and two women were killed and four persons were overcome today by coal gas escaping in an apartment house in Brooklyn.

Two of the victims were married recently and were found in each other's arms. They apparently were overcome while the husband was attempting to carry his bride from their gas-filled apartment.

Of those overcome, three were children. They were revived by neighbors who entered the apartments through windows when they failed to receive responses to their knocks and found the doors were locked.

The dead:

Abraham Pollock, 30.

Mildred Pollock, his wife, 20.

Mrs. Rose Pollock, 25, sister-in-law of Abraham.

Solomon Pollock, 30, brother of Abraham.

When neighbors broke into the Pollock apartment they found Mildred and Abraham Pollock on the floor clasped in each other's arms. The janitor was held for questioning and the owner of the apartment house also was summoned.

DRUGGIST SAYS RUDNER HINTED ATTACK ON FOE

Another Blow Struck at Alleged "Pay-off" Man.

OFFER DECLINED

Expert Says Defendant Wrote Telegram Sent to McDermott.

CANTON, O., Feb. 15.—Stanley Baltzly, Massillon druggist, today told the jury trying Ben Rudner as the "pay-off" man in the murder of Don R. Mellett, vice-crusading editor, last July, that Rudner suggested to him last summer that he have a man with whom he had had trouble "beaten up."

Baltzly was recalled to the stand today because he said yesterday that he "knew a lot more."

Rudner told him that if he did not want to beat up this man himself, Baltzly testified, that he (Rudner) would furnish a couple of men to do it.

Later, Baltzly continued, Rudner came to his store, saying:

"My friends are here now. Point out that fellow and I'll have them put the works on him, if you still want him beaten up."

Baltzly declared that the offer was declined.

Max Stroub, a Canton photographer presented photographs of the telegram received by Pat McDermott, convicted "trigger man," on the morning following the Rudner murder. He also presented photographs of Rudner's handwriting. Both were offered in evidence by the state.

Dr. Henry Jenkins, handwriting expert, testified that this telegram, which read, "Take Massillon store at once or report to home office at once," was written by Rudner.

When court adjourned for the noon recess, Dr. Jenkins was still on the stand. It was learned that the defense had its own handwriting expert who would testify that Rudner could not have written the telegram in question.

Indications were that the state would not complete its case today, making more probable that the case would go over until next week.

BOY, 12, KILLS STOREKEEPER

New York Lad Admits he Slew Man in Hold-up.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—"Hello, dad I just killed a man." Proudly 12-year old Michael Ponkranshaw, confessed slayer of Marcus Gold, a storekeeper, today greeted his father from a cell in the Richmond Hill police station. With a confident wave of the hand the child stopped his father when the man pleaded with him to tell the truth.

"Sure, I'll tell you everything, dad. I'm not afraid and I like this jail anyway. It's better than at home."

"But why did you do it, son?" asked the grief-stricken father.

"Why I was hungry," the boy explained calmly. "I wanted to get some money to buy coffee and cakes."

Michael had run away from home a few days ago, and last night he became hungry. He walked into Gold's store and displaying a gun ordered the man to "stick 'em up." As the storekeeper hurriedly complied, the gun went off, and he crumpled up on the floor. A policeman arrived and caught Michael as he was leaving by a window.

"Oh, I'm sorry I shot the man," the boy told the police. "But I had to have the money. I was desperate. I went into the store to pull this hold-up like I'd read about, and the gun went off. I was plenty scared. I knew he was dead from the funny way he looked. And I tried to get away but the policeman came and pointed his gun at me, and I dropped mine quick you bet."

Michael took the gun from his father's desk before running away from home, he said. He didn't mean to use it except to scare people.

But he didn't seem to feel any remorse.

night. Neither suffered any ill effects from the blast.

Mr. and Mrs. Batey, who were spending the evening on Thompson hill, heard the explosion. Batey reached the scene within a few minutes.

Mr. and Mrs. Pomeroy, whose home adjoins the Batey house, are visiting in Chicago.

Damaged Beyond Repair.

Although Batey was unable to explain the cause of the blast, it is believed the gas escaping from a broken joint ignited either from the furnace which is fired by coal or from the water heater, also located in the basement.

Most of the furnishings in the house were ruined by the explosion.

Inasmuch as no explosion insurance was carried on the building, the damage is a total loss except for that sustained by fire.

Building contractors who inspected the wreckage of the home today expressed the opinion that the place was too badly damaged to be repaired. An effort may be made to save the roof of the house by supporting it on braces while the new side walls are being constructed.

Sunday Blue Law Hearing Ends in Swapping of Blows

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Rioting and fist-fighting, in which members of congress and a churchman swapped blows, women screamed, and tables and chairs were overturned, broke up a congressional hearing today on a bill which would establish Sunday blue laws in the district of Columbia.

Representative L. Blanton, Democrat, of Texas, and Representative Sol Bloom, Democrat, of New York, had a personal encounter which wound up with Bloom lying across the table with the Texan on top of him.

While this was going on, the official reporter went to the floor under impact of the fist of Harvey L. Bowlby, secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance.

Blanton also knocked down L. B. Schloss, proprietor of an amusement park, who attempted to pull him off Bloom.

There were almost a thousand people in the committee room when the melee started, and there were several side fights among the spectators. The identities of the combatants were lost in the confusion of screaming women and general panic.

One woman in the rear of the room mounted a chair and began praying in a loud voice.

A Tennessee mother talks. Mrs. J. G. C.——— of Knoxville. "Another thing, everyone who has children should keep Foley's Honey and Tar Compound always on hand, for the children's cough or baby's croup. It certainly excels all other cough medicines in healing qualities and in giving quick and satisfactory results. It is made under absolutely sanitary conditions and contains no opiates—points of especial interest to mothers who want to know what they are giving their children. Our druggist also recommends it highly." Ask for it.

HOME TRAINING PASTOR'S TOPIC

Failure of Home is Great Tragedy, Says Rev. B. R. Johnson.

The "failure of the home" was characterized as one of the "greatest tragedies of the world today" by Rev. B. R. Johnson, pastor of the First Church of Christ, in his sermon on the subject, "The Youth of Today," at last night's evangelistic service.

One person professed conversion.

Tonight, Rev. Mr. Johnson will preach on "How to Escape from Evil." Rev. Clarence Hanna, Cleveland, will render special vocal numbers. Residents of Pleasant Heights will attend the services.

In last evening's sermon he said:

"We cannot discuss this subject about the youth until we have first taken into consideration the home-life and home-training of our boys and girls. Many times were find the child born into the wrong home. Too often we find that the child is unwanted in the home; too often the child is born into an unchristian home. But, is the child responsible for this?

"One of the greatest tragedies of the world today is the fall of the home. In this day of jazz and society, in this day of excitement, the home is only a place where we eat one or two meals and where we come to sleep. Many times the home is the place for ornament and the boys and girls are not permitted to play and romp like children want to do.

"Too often we find that parents are not companions for their children: they are not acquainted with their son and daughter. Then, if the youth of today does wrong, place the blame upon the home and the parents. Parents should resume the responsibility of training their children in the way they should go.

"Another obstacle in the path of youth today is the lack of an education. Opportunities come to the youth and they are not prepared for them because they have not been educated. Many times the youth are saying to leave the great tasks of the world to someone else instead of preparing themselves for that task.

"Someday in the future minister, doctors, lawyers, poets and writers will be needed and who will fill that position? It will be that boy and girl who is resting in mothers' lap. It will be the one who has prepared for that position. Why is it that we see so many young men around on the street corners with nothing to do? Why are they not preparing themselves for some great task. Parents should teach their children to love an education.

"The youth of today must meet many temptations as each one of us meet them. But, they should have a guide. Is it not easy and splendid to climb the mountain when you have a guide. Christ wants to be the guide of every young life. He wants to be your companion all along the way.

"The journey of life will be so much sweeter if you will accept Him. The youth of today needs someone to guide and help them. Parents should always be a compnaion to them and teach them about God and the Christ. The youth will not fail if they accept Christ as their leader."

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—Bullish enthusiasm was stimulated in the industrial stocks in early trading today by the strength and activity of the market leaders, including U. S. Steel, General Motors and various copper, oil and independent steel stocks. Price gains in the active stocks were moderate, and mostly fractional, though specialties like International Combustion Engineering and International Harvester sold up 1 to 3 1-2 points in a heavy turnover.

Western Maryland alone of the "little rails" attracted speculative attention, the common stock advancing in good form to 32 1-2 for a new 3-point gain. At this price the stock has regained about eight points of last week's sudden break. Wheeling & Lake Erie, of sky-rocket fame, sold down 4 1-2 points at 56, while the preferred advanced fractionally to 58 5-8. Wabash and New Haven were slightly reactionary.

United States Steel bettered its best previous price for the year at 160 1-8, large blocks of the stock being taken at 160, while the new W. I. stock was active at the best prices of the year. Republic and Crucible Steel were active and firm and copper stocks firm.

Call money was in good supply at 4 per cent.

'SALVATION' IS PASTOR'S THEME

Special sermon was delivered by Rev. E. L. Zachman, pastor, at services Sunday night in the First Evangelical church. His subject was "Uttermost Salvation.'

"The question that arises in every believer's heart," said Rev. Zachman, "is not how much pity it takes to accept God or to join his church but what are his privileges, under the reign of grace. In other words what are the limitations of God's saving power, and to what extent can a man be saved in this life.

"The word says that all things are possible to him that believeth everything that is contained in the Book by way of promise.

"As we consider this uttermost salvation, we must guard against two extremes. If we place the standard too high, we turn honest minds away from it as an impossible attainment. If we place it too low, folks won't feel inspired to seek it.

"Some aim at perfection but overshoot it for angel perfection. Others place the mark too low, profess holiness and never possess it."

LA BARBA PUTS IN HARD NIGHT

Floored Four Times by Johnny Vacca in Boston.

BOSTON, Feb. 15.—Little Johnny Vacca, unknown Boston bantamweight, who four times floored Fidel La Barba, of Los Angeles, flyweight champion of the world, and won seven out of ten rounds, received nothing but cheers for his victory, it was learned tody. Because of the snow storm last evening, the Commercial A. C., sponsor of the bout, started to call it off. Vacca, rather than miss the opportunity to meet La Barba, offered to battle for nothing.

The champion from the Pacific coast was on the canvas three times in the second round and once in the fourth.

Three times La Barba took the count of nine, while the other time he was up at the count of five.

It was Vacca's first appearance in a main bout and he entered the ring on the short end of ten to three betting.

The first round was even and then Vacca began nailing La Barba on the jaw.

La Barba stood up like a champion under the punishment. He spurted in the closing rounds. La Barba carried the seventh and eighth rounds and held Vacca even in the ninth.

E. Palestine and Lisbon Refuse to Play in Tourney

Steve Brodie took a chance but Lisbon and East Palestine high school will have none of it.

These two teams have refused to enter the county Class B basketball tournament February 25 and 26 at Columbiana. LA BARBA PUTS IN HARD NIGHT

Floored Four Times by Johnny Vacca in Boston.

BOSTON, Feb. 15.—Little Johnny Vacca, unknown Boston bantamweight, who four times floored Fidel La Barba, of Los Angeles, flyweight champion of the world, and won seven out of ten rounds, received nothing but cheers for his victory, it was learned tody. Because of the snow storm last evening, the Commercial A. C., sponsor of the bout, started to call it off. Vacca, rather than miss the opportunity to meet La Barba, offered to battle for nothing.

The champion from the Pacific coast was on the canvas three times in the second round and once in the fourth.

Three times La Barba took the count of nine, while the other time he was up at the count of five.

It was Vacca's first appearance in a main bout and he entered the ring on the short end of ten to three betting.

The first round was even and then Vacca began nailing La Barba on the jaw.

La Barba stood up like a champion under the punishment. He spurted in the closing rounds. La Barba carried the seventh and eighth rounds and held Vacca even in the ninth.

E. Palestine and Lisbon Refuse to Play in Tourney

Steve Brodie took a chance but Lisbon and East Palestine high school will have none of it.

These two teams have refused to enter the county Class B basketball tournament February 25 and 26 at Columbiana. CHANEY SCORES IN WAR STORY

"Tell It To Marines," at American, is Winner.

Lon Chaney, he of the thousand faces, is showing his thousand-and-first visage at the American theatre.

The sinister cripple of "The Penalty;" the tragic clown of "He Who Gets Slapped;" the one-eyed monster of "The Road to Mandalay," has forsaken his weird trappings—for a disguise even more amazing.

He roars his way through the role of a tough old Marine sergent; years in the service; veteran of many a battle—battering the new generations of recruits into the traditions of the service that is "first to fight."

A grim old fellow, this sergeant of the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer spectacle, "Tell It to the Marines." But, under it all, proud of his boys; as fond of them as a father might be, even while he belabors them like a Simon Legree.

His is the story of many a tough old "top kicker" of the corps—and the explanation of the fanatical adoration Marines have for their sergeants—the tougher the better.

"Tell it to the Marines" is Simon pure entertainment—but it is more—it is the very soul of Uncle Sam's great service thrown on the screen.

It is full of sensational thrills—a great battle fleet thundering its defiance to the world; desperate battles; and with a wonderful love story woven through its laughs. The government saw its value—that is why it was made with the co-operation of the whole corps—why hundreds of Marines play in its dramatic action—why great battleships lent themselves to its needs. It does for the Marines what "The Big Parade" did for the soldiers.

William Haines, as the irrepressible recruit, has a role that was "custom made" for him, and Eleanor Boardman makes a charming heroine. Carmel Myers, Eddie Gribbon and others, including George Hill, director, merit praise.

French dressmakers now are designing bags, slippers and ruffles, as well as perfume, to harmonize with any particular costume.

The weather remains a fruitful topic of conversation, profane and otherwise.—Bellefontaine Examiner.

County Fair Premium List Changes Made Public by Marsden

County fair board today announced through its secretary, H. E. Marsden at Lisbon, that in the cattle premium list, for the next county fair, where there is no competition in entries, first premium would be given instead of second premium as has been the rule in past years. The board has also instructed Secretary Marsden to have the cattle barn equipped with electric lights, and to also erect a wash rack. These improvements will be completed before the opening of the fair next September.

The poultry show will be in charge of Earl Stockman of Lisbon, and the new premium list is to be augmented so that more varieties can be entered.

An appropriation of $1,000 has been made for free attractions for the next fair.

In the sheep division there will be an added entry list so as to include two classes of Merinos as are raised in this county. This entry list will be in addition to those entries listed from other places outside of this county. By this arrangement there will be more competition between the Columbiana county sheep growers.

Races are to be reduced to three per day, but the classes will not be determined until after a meeting of the Eastern Ohio Fair Managers association that will be held at Youngstown late in March. Purses, however, are expected to remain at $400 for each race, with percentages going to winners as heretofore.

CROSS, FEVERISH CHILD IS BILIOUS OR CONSTIPATED

Look, Mother! See if tongue is coated, breath hot or stomach sour

"California Fig Syrup" can't harm tender stomach, liver, bowels

Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Fig Syrup," that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without griping.

When cross, irritable, feverish, or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue, mother! When the little system is full of cold, throat sore, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, indigestion, colic—remember, a good "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Fig Syrup," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups printed on the bottle. So Clean Inside, No Fear of Perspiration Offense, However Over-Heated

Once a person realizes the wonderful properties in cascara, no other laxative in the market would ever be considered.

It's no trick to "clean out the bowels." Dozens of things will do that. But a little natural cascara purifies the system clear through. Cleanses even the pores of your skin. Renders perspiration as inoffensive as so much dew! The old-fashioned way was "salts." They get action, but they take the mucous membrane along with the waste matter! Mineral oils are gentler, but they leave the bowels with a film of poisons for the blood to carry off through the pores. But, when you cascarize the system, you get rid of all the poisons by normal muscular action of the bowels.

If you have the habit of taking medicine for constipation, or even for auto-intoxication, stop it. For a candy cascaret is a delightful form in which to take cascara: children love them, and the taste tempts most grown-ups to have "more."

And what a comfort to know you are in that clean, wholesome condition that does away with any need of deodorants, even in warmest weather! Try a cascaret tonight—see how you feel next day, and for days after! With the skin fresh and fragrant. All druggists, 10c and 25c.

"ANYTHING that gets results, was all the thought I ever gave to laxatives. In those days my perspiration was so acid, it used to rot my clothes. Then a doctor tipped me off to those wonderful little sweeteners—

County Fair Premium List Changes Made Public by Marsden

County fair board today announced through its secretary, H. E. Marsden at Lisbon, that in the cattle premium list, for the next county fair, where there is no competition in entries, first premium would be given instead of second premium as has been the rule in past years. The board has also instructed Secretary Marsden to have the cattle barn equipped with electric lights, and to also erect a wash rack. These improvements will be completed before the opening of the fair next September.

The poultry show will be in charge of Earl Stockman of Lisbon, and the new premium list is to be augmented so that more varieties can be entered.

An appropriation of $1,000 has been made for free attractions for the next fair.

In the sheep division there will be an added entry list so as to include two classes of Merinos as are raised in this county. This entry list will be in addition to those entries listed from other places outside of this county. By this arrangement there will be more competition between the Columbiana county sheep growers.

Races are to be reduced to three per day, but the classes will not be determined until after a meeting of the Eastern Ohio Fair Managers association that will be held at Youngstown late in March. Purses, however, are expected to remain at $400 for each race, with percentages going to winners as heretofore.

Sure of Himself Now!

So Clean Inside, No Fear of Perspiration Offense, However Over-Heated

"ANYTHING that gets results, was all the thought I ever gave to laxatives. In those days my perspiration was so acid, it used to rot my clothes. Then a doctor tipped me off to those wonderful little sweeteners—

CASCARETS

Once a person realizes the wonderful properties in cascara, no other laxative in the market would ever be considered.

It's no trick to "clean out the bowels." Dozens of things will do that. But a little natural cascara purifies the system clear through. Cleanses even the pores of your skin. Renders perspiration as inoffensive as so much dew! The old-fashioned way was "salts." They get action, but they take the mucous membrane along with the waste matter! Mineral oils are gentler, but they leave the bowels with a film of poisons for the blood to carry off through the pores. But, when you cascarize the system, you get rid of all the poisons by normal muscular action of the bowels.

If you have the habit of taking medicine for constipation, or even for auto-intoxication, stop it. For a candy cascaret is a delightful form in which to take cascara; children love them, and the taste tempts most grown-ups to have "more."

And what a comfort to know you are in that clean, wholesome condition that does away with any need of deodorants, even in warmest weather! Try a cascaret tonight—see how you feel next day, and for days after! With the skin fresh and fragrant. All druggists, 10c and 25c.

Dover Will Provide Tough Game for Highs Here Saturday

Recognized as One Of Leading Bidders For Tourney Honors

Have Won 13 Games and Lost Three in 16 Court Appearances to Date; Locals at Wellsville Tonight, Steubenville Friday.

Running up a total of 406 points against 245 for the opposition, and winning 13 out of 16 games played to date this season, Dover High school passers, who appear on the local floor Saturday night unexpectedly stack up as one of the real tough bets of the remaining games on the Blue and White schedule.

The Doverites have been slipping along easily, bowling them over right and left, with only three defeats to mar their record in 16 starts, until now they are being recognized as one of the strongest bidders for honors in the eastern district class A tournament which will be held March 4 at New Concord.

The Dover five has had no "set-up" schedule to amass their 13 victories from, either. Cambridge, Dennison, Massillon, Uhrichsville, Akron West, New Philadelphia, Muskingum Academy and others were played in order and defeated.

Lose to Sharon.

Two of the three reverses sustained by Dover were administered by Sharon (Pa.) high. In the first meeting of the two teams, Sharon won by a 33-23 count, but the margin was closer next time, the tally being 21-17.

Last week Dover lost to Akron St. Vincent, 24 to 22.

The game with East Liverpool here Saturday night is one of four remaining on the Dover schedule prior to the tournament. The others are scheduled with New Philadelphia and Wooster—two with the latter team.

Dover's complete record to date:

Dover 21, Dennison 13.
Dover 26, Cambridge 16.
Dover 35, Millersburg 18.
Dover 18, Massillon 14.
Dover 20, Uhrichsville 14.
Dover 22, Akron Garfield 10.
Dover 37, Uhrichsville 17.
Dover 21, Akron West 15.
Dover 25, New Philadelphia 10.
Dover 23, Sharon 33.
Dover 41, Millersburg 4.
Dover 24, Dennison 7.
Dover 17, Sharon 21.
Dover 20, Akron Garfield 19.
Dover 24, Muskingum Academy 10.
Dover 22, Akron St. Vincents 24.

Tonight Coach Lorah's quint goes into action at Wellsville in the first of two games with the Orange and Black passers. The engagement will attract the largest crowd of the season on the Wellsville court, 500 tickets for the game having already been disposed of.

With both teams at peak strength the battle should be one of the best of the season.

At Steubenville Friday.

On Friday night the Blue and White will be on the road again, being billed for a return engagement with Steubenville. The locals defeated Cartledge's outfit here several weeks ago by a decisive count and feel confident they can repeat.

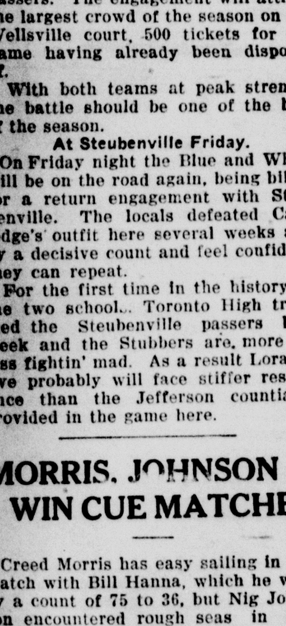

For the first time in the history of the two schools, Toronto High trimmed the Steubenville passers last week and the Stubbers are, more or less fightin' mad. As a result Lorah's five probably will face stiffer resistance than the Jefferson countians provided in the game here.

MORRIS, JOHNSON WIN CUE MATCHES

Creed Morris has easy sailing in his match with Bill Hanna, which he won by a count of 75 to 36, but Nig Johnson encountered rough seas in his conquest over C. Moore. A one point margin 75 to 74, gave him the match.

Two games are scheduled tonight: Frank Sainer vs. Charles Price; Jerry Lanning vs. El Reney.

Mudken, China, is to have a new bank building costing $100,000.

MAY REMODEL PLAYING FIELD

Turk Nash to Move Diamond Back at West End.

PLANS for repair work at Patterson Field, including the wholesale moving of the diamond and playing field back toward the grandstand, were discussed among other matters at the meeting of the Turk Nash City Industrial league club last night in the Turk Nash sales rooms.

Patterson Field probably will be used by the Motors as their home lot this season. Right now it is in need of a general overhauling. Mike Turk, club owner, expects to send out a force of workmen to put the lot in shape before the spring drills gets under way.

Officials of the club feel that a large portion of the ground between home plate and the grandstand is going to waste and with dumping operations at the north end of the plot rapidly encroaching on the outfield, believe that probably 60 feet can be added to the gardens by the shift.

Home plate is now approximately 90 feet out from the grandstand, regulation distance. If the club's plans are carried out, the plate will be moved back 60 feet and the base lines, of course, moved in to correspond.

The Motors also decided upon their uniforms at last night's conference. Their suits will be white with "Turk Nash' across the chest and a monogram on the sleeve. Black caps and sox will complete the ensemble.

Appears "Off-Edge"; Lacks Fire and Dash

Mauls Tom Kirby, Light Heavyweight, Around in Workout, But Latter Finds Frequent Openings for Good Right Cross.

By Davis J. Walsh.

LONG BEACH, N. J., Feb. 15.—At the risk of becoming confounded with the technicians, a form of human life somewhat higher than a fallen arch, the writer today is constrained to break down and make a clean breast of the belief that a thoroughly conditioned athlete will not be dropped down in that $200,000 spot with Jack Delaney on Friday night. I saw a pale, logy, lacklustre Jimmy Maloney step through a brief workout and, for my non-essential part, the business was not highly impressive.

Later, I tried to persuade Jimmy De Forest to pass judgment on the young man's condition but James was non-committal and evasive. He would say nothing except that Maloney was not under his care but merely using his quarters here as a training grounds. Privately, De Forest is declared to have said that Maloney's system of training didn't meet with his entire approval.

Will Have to be Right.

Of course, a shave and a haircut will do sometimes as preparation for a ten-round bout but this one doesn't appear to be that kind of a fight. It will be a fight with a great one-punch hitter and, if the latter drops one on his beard, Maloney may need all the recuperative powers that good condition insure.

The writer had not great interest in Maloney's waistline, which was generous enough, in truth. He is one of those natural fat men whose obesity is deceiving. However, one can't go wrong on the state of the eyes and Maloney's are dull and expressionless. Neither can the tell tale whitewashed look under the eyes be ignored. Maloney didn't lose this aspect even after several rounds of boxing.

Neck Appears "Stringy."

It didn't seem, either, that the sweat came readily to the surface, although he went in the ring in a well heated room bundled in clothes to the upper lip. That as a rule is another bad sign. A good conditioner of men usually looks at a fighter's neck for signs of ill-condition. Maloney's looked like what the trainers call "stringy."

Maloney was neither fast nor obviously slow in action although it was quite apparent that he was pulling his punches. A man doing that can't be fast; still there seems to be no way to escape the impression that this particular fighter is far from being on edge. His lack of fire may be a matter of temperament but almost any well-trained human being, three days before a contest, will give more convincing testimony that some kind of life still flutters within.

In a two-round workout with Tom Kirby, a light heavyweight of Delaney's proportions, Maloney gave evidence of what he hopes to do on Friday by wrestling and pulling the lighter man off balance at every turn. A little bit of that might prove a great plenty to Delaney if the bout went on to ten rounds.

However, Maloney seemed surprisingly open to a right cross. Kirby scored with three of them and Jimmy didn't see them until they finished. If he does that with Delaney, they can count him out with an hour glass.

BENNETT VICTOR IN ACADEMY TILT

Harry Bennett defeated Harry Clacey, 25 to 15, in last night's three-cushion billiard tourney match at the Academy.

Roland White and Bill Millers are billed to push the ivories around tonight.

I'm telling you straight—

is the works

PUT it down now for a double-riveted, copper-cornered fact: Prince Albert will give you more pleasure to the cubic inch than any other tobacco you ever packed in a pipe. Maybe I'm prejudiced. Even so, my statement holds. I'll leave it to you, after your first P. A. pipe-load.

Buy a tidy red tin of P. A. and follow these simple directions: Tuck about a thimbleful into the bowl of your favorite pipe. Light up, and pull that cool, consoling smoke up the stem. Exhale slowly and get the full benefit of that wonderful Prince Albert taste.

Cool as a claim-adjuster. Sweet as an unexpected inheritance. Fragrant as pine-boughs, swaying in a summer breeze. Mild, but not willy-nilly, if you get me. And of course you do! Make the test today and check-in with what I've been telling you.

You'll probably say I wasn't enthusiastic enough! Anyhow, get some Prince Albert now and get on the sunny side of pipe-pleasure. No matter what your previous experience with a pipe has been; no matter how set you appear to be, try Prince Albert. It will be a revelation!

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

PRINCE ALBERT

—no other tobacco is like it!

Patterson Field probably will be used by the Motors as their home lot this season. Right now it is in need of a general overhauling. Mike Turk, club owner, expects to send out a force of workmen to put the lot in shape before the spring drills gets under way.

Officials of the club feel that a large portion of the ground between home plate and the grandstand is going to waste and with dumping operations at the north end of the plot rapidly encroaching on the outfield, believe that probably 60 feet can be added to the gardens by the shift.

Home plate is now approximately 90 feet out from the grandstand, regulation distance. If the club's plans are carried out, the plate will be moved back 60 feet and the base lines, of course, moved in to correspond.

The Motors also decided upon their uniforms at last night's conference. Their suits will be white with "Turk Nash' across the chest and a monogram on the sleeve. Black caps and sox will complete the ensemble.

Appears "Off-Edge"; Lacks Fire and Dash

By Davis J. Walsh.

LONG BEACH, N. J., Feb. 15.—At the risk of becoming confounded with the technicians, a form of human life somewhat higher than a fallen arch, the writer today is constrained to break down and make a clean breast of the belief that a thoroughly conditioned athlete will not be dropped down in that $200,000 spot with Jack Delaney on Friday night. I saw a pale, logy, lacklustre Jimmy Maloney step through a brief workout and, for my non-essential part, the business was not highly impressive.

Later, I tried to persuade Jimmy De Forest to pass judgment on the young man's condition but James was non-committal and evasive. He would say nothing except that Maloney was not under his care but merely using his quarters here as a training grounds. Privately, De Forest is declared to have said that Maloney's system of training didn't meet with his entire approval.

Will Have to be Right.

Of course, a shave and a haircut will do sometimes as preparation for a ten-round bout but this one doesn't appear to be that kind of a fight. It will be a fight with a great one-punch hitter and, if the latter drops one on his beard, Maloney may need all the recuperative powers that good condition insure.

The writer had not great interest in Maloney's waistline, which was generous enough, in truth. He is one of those natural fat men whose obesity is deceiving. However, one can't go wrong on the state of the eyes and Maloney's are dull and expressionless. Neither can the tell tale whitewashed look under the eyes be ignored. Maloney didn't lose this aspect even after several rounds of boxing.

Neck Appears "Stringy."

It didn't seem, either, that the sweat came readily to the surface, although he went in the ring in a well heated room bundled in clothes to the upper lip. That as a rule is another bad sign. A good conditioner of men usually looks at a fighter's neck for signs of ill-condition. Maloney's looked like what the trainers call "stringy."

Maloney was neither fast nor obviously slow in action although it was quite apparent that he was pulling his punches. A man doing that can't be fast; still there seems to be no way to escape the impression that this particular fighter is far from being on edge. His lack of fire may be a matter of temperament but almost any well-trained human being, three days before a contest, will give more convincing testimony that some kind of life still flutters within.

In a two-round workout with Tom Kirby, a light heavyweight of Delaney's proportions, Maloney gave evidence of what he hopes to do on Friday by wrestling and pulling the lighter man off balance at every turn. A little bit of that might prove a great plenty to Delaney if the bout went on to ten rounds.

However, Maloney seemed surprisingly open to a right cross. Kirby scored with three of them and Jimmy didn't see them until they finished. If he does that with Delaney, they can count him out with an hour glass.

BENNETT VICTOR IN ACADEMY TILT

Harry Bennett defeated Harry Clacey, 25 to 15, in last night's three-cushion billiard tourney match at the Academy.

Roland White and Bill Millers are billed to push the ivories around tonight.

I'm telling you straight—

is the works

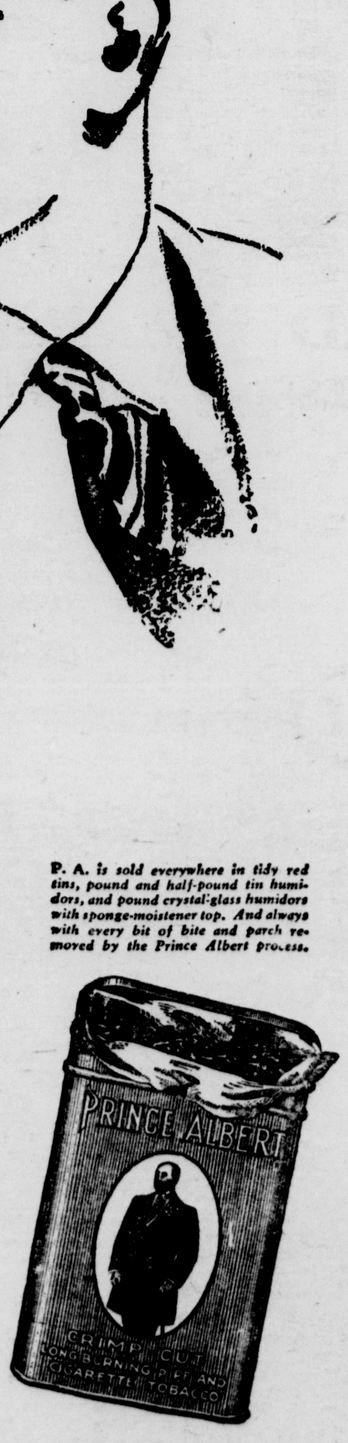

PUT it down now for a double-riveted, copper-cornered fact: Prince Albert will give you more pleasure to the cubic inch than any other tobacco you ever packed in a pipe. Maybe I'm prejudiced. Even so, my statement holds. I'll leave it to you, after your first P. A. pipe-load.

Buy a tidy red tin of P. A. and follow these simple directions: Tuck about a thimbleful into the bowl of your favorite pipe. Light up, and pull that cool, consoling smoke up the stem. Exhale slowly and get the full benefit of that wonderful Prince Albert taste.

Cool as a claim-adjuster. Sweet as an unexpected inheritance. Fragrant as pine-boughs, swaying in a summer breeze. Mild, but not willy-nilly, if you get me. And of course you do! Make the test today and check-in with what I've been telling you.

You'll probably say I wasn't enthusiastic enough! Anyhow, get some Prince Albert now and get on the sunny side of pipe-pleasure. No matter what your previous experience with a pipe has been; no matter how set you appear to be, try Prince Albert. It will be a revelation!

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

PRINCE ALBERT

—no other tobacco is like it!

CLASH FOR CUE TITLE TONIGHT

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—The three-cushion billiard championship of the United States will be decided here tonight in a 50-point match between defending champion Otto Reiselt, of Philadelphia, and August Kieckhefer, of Chicago.

Reiselt and Kieckhefer won their way to the finals in the national tournament by winning last night over Earl Thurnblad and Gus Copulos, respectively. Reiselt defeated Thurnblad, 50 to 36, and Kieckhefer beat Copulos, 50 to 22.

The latter match was the sensation of the tournament. Kieckhefer ran out in 32 innings, setting a record for the meet and bettering his own former best game of 35 innings.

In the other two matches, Tiff Denton, of Kansas City, defeated Raimundo Campanioni, 50 to 32, and then lost to Earl Lookabaugh, of Chicago, 50 to 48.

JIMMY DELANEY WINS 10-ROUNDER

CINCINNATI, Feb. 15.—Before the largest fight crowd that has turned out here in several years, Jimmy Delaney, St. Paul middleweight, boxed his way through ten rounds to a newspaper decision over Maxie Rosenbloom, of New York, last night.

Delaney threw caution to the winds after the New York boy had shaded him in the first four rounds, and proceeded to hand Maxie a right uppercut that put him on his back in the fifth round—Delaney failed to call his shot, or something, and the easterner was soon back on his feet.

The boys mixed it freely after that, with Delaney being the more frequent scorer.

In a preliminary bout, Fred Ullman, of New York, bowed to Alex Simms, of Toledo, via the technical knockout route, in the 5th round.

CLASH FOR CUE TITLE TONIGHT

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—The three-cushion billiard championship of the United States will be decided here tonight in a 50-point match between defending champion Otto Reiselt, of Philadelphia, and August Kieckhefer, of Chicago.

Reiselt and Kieckhefer won their way to the finals in the national tournament by winning last night over Earl Thurnblad and Gus Copulos, respectively. Reiselt defeated Thurnblad, 50 to 36, and Kieckhefer beat Copulos, 50 to 22.

The latter match was the sensation of the tournament. Kieckhefer ran out in 32 innings, setting a record for the meet and bettering his own former best game of 35 innings.

In the other two matches, Tiff Denton, of Kansas City, defeated Raimundo Campanioni, 50 to 32, and then lost to Earl Lookabaugh, of Chicago, 50 to 48.

JIMMY DELANEY WINS 10-ROUNDER

CINCINNATI, Feb. 15.—Before the largest fight crowd that has turned out here in several years, Jimmy Delaney, St. Paul middleweight, boxed his way through ten rounds to a newspaper decision over Maxie Rosenbloom, of New York, last night.

Delaney threw caution to the winds after the New York boy had shaded him in the first four rounds, and proceeded to hand Maxie a right uppercut that put him on his back in the fifth round—Delaney failed to call his shot, or something, and the easterner was soon back on his feet.

The boys mixed it freely after that, with Delaney being the more frequent scorer.

In a preliminary bout, Fred Ullman, of New York, bowed to Alex Simms, of Toledo, via the technical knockout route, in the 5th round.

LADS WOUNDED IN GUN PLAY

Shooting Takes Place on Officer's Farm Near Wellsburg.

Otto Neff, aged 13, of Wellsburg, was perhaps fatally wounded, and Charles Adkins, 16 years old, was shot through the right hand yesterday afternoon as a result of play on the farm of Probation Officer I. W. Charnock near Wellsburg.

Neff, who alleged young Adkins shot him, was found on a hill back of the Charnock farm by a farmer, Alexander Mewha, who, while working on an automobile, heard his cries for help. He was taken to the North Wheeling hospital.

Adkins escaped from the Morganza institution two years ago, it is said, and was apprehended and returned there by Charnock. Young Neff appeared before the court last November as a delinquent and was placed in charge of Probation Officer Charnock, who took him to his farm.

Adkins appeared there three days ago and went to Chanock's home on a visit. Charnock, his wife and two children left Sunday for a trip to Salem, O., leaving the boys on the farm. The two began playing with the pistol, and did a great deal of shooting at marks. The firing is said to have been kept up much of Sunday night.

Adkins walked to Wellsburg and had the wound in his hand dressed. He remarked to the physician that the Neff boy was wounded. It is thought Adkins wounded himself with the gun. He said a hunter had shot them.

Adkins was detained by the Brooke county authorities, pending an investigation.

OLDEST MEMBER OF CONGRESS SCOFFS AT RECIPES FOR ATTAINING OLD AGE

RALEIGH, N. C.—Rep. Charles M. Stedman, (D.) of North Carolina the oldest member of congress, scoffs at the time-honored recipes for attaining a ripe old age.

Major Stedman, at the age of 86, eats what he pleases, smokes when he desires and works hard.

"The whole secret of my long and active life is the Providence of God," he said. "He fixes the time for the death of all persons. I know my time is already fixed by Providence, and it doesn't worry me."

Graduating from college at the age of twenty, Major Steadman entered the Confederate army as a private in 1861, was wounded three times and emerged as a major. A lawyer, he held many public offices in North Carolina before coming to congress sixteen years ago.

"I smoke more cigers than the ordinary man, and have smoked a great deal most of my life," he said "I eat anything that I like that is set on the table before me. I do much walking at home but in Washington I take no particular form of exercise. I usually retire at 10:30 and rise at 7:30."

Major Steadman prides himself on his ability to keep his work as a congressman up to date. He never refuses to answer a letter, however trivial. They come to him in great batches from all parts of North Carolina.

"I haven't given the matter of retirement a moment's consideration," he said.

He has great confidence in his state. "North Carolina at the present time is enjoying prosperity and the prospects for the future are bright," he said. "The state has a magnificent climate, great resources, a conservative people and is in the midst of an era of great industrial activity."

Plans Made for Reception.

Plans have been completed for the reception for new members tomorrow night in the First Christian church. Diversified program has been arranged. Refreshments will be served.

JUST GETTING OVER WEAKNESS CAUSED BY FLU

This Woman, Like Thousands of Others, Had Severe Backaches and Nervous Attacks; Thanks Tepee Herb Tonic For Restoring Her Health.

It is well known by people who have had the flu that this trouble breaks down the entire system and often it is many months, sometimes years before a person so afflicted regains robust health.

Redwood.

An example of what Tepee Herb Tonic will do in such cases is well defined by Mrs. Ivy Clark, 1536 E 66th St., Cleveland, Ohio. She says:

"A few months ago I had the flu and it left me in a weak, run down state of health from which I didn't seem to be able to recover. My whole system was full of poison. Finally my liver got out of order and my kidneys went on a strike. I had a pain in the small of my back. My nerves were all unstrung and I would jump and tremble at the least sudden noise. I couldn't sleep well and felt tired even though I had not done any work. I was just "all in."

"I am now on my second bottle and feel better than at any time since I had the flu. My backache is gone. My bowels are regular and I have a good appetite. I am not nervous like I was. I am gaining strength every day for which I give full credit to Redwood's Tepee Herb Tonic."

Tepee Herb Tonic is sold and recommended by Carnahan's Drug Store and by well stocked drug stores everywhere.

LADS WOUNDED IN GUN PLAY

Shooting Takes Place on Officer's Farm Near Wellsburg.

Otto Neff, aged 13, of Wellsburg, was perhaps fatally wounded, and Charles Adkins, 16 years old, was shot through the right hand yesterday afternoon as a result of play on the farm of Probation Officer I. W. Charnock near Wellsburg.

Neff, who alleged young Adkins shot him, was found on a hill back of the Charnock farm by a farmer, Alexander Mewha, who, while working on an automobile, heard his cries for help. He was taken to the North Wheeling hospital.

Adkins escaped from the Morganza institution two years ago, it is said, and was apprehended and returned there by Charnock. Young Neff appeared before the court last November as a delinquent and was placed in charge of Probation Officer Charnock, who took him to his farm.

Adkins appeared there three days ago and went to Chanock's home on a visit. Charnock, his wife and two children left Sunday for a trip to Salem, O., leaving the boys on the farm. The two began playing with the pistol, and did a great deal of shooting at marks. The firing is said to have been kept up much of Sunday night.

Adkins walked to Wellsburg and had the wound in his hand dressed. He remarked to the physician that the Neff boy was wounded. It is thought Adkins wounded himself with the gun. He said a hunter had shot them.

Adkins was detained by the Brooke county authorities, pending an investigation.

OLDEST MEMBER OF CONGRESS SCOFFS AT RECIPES FOR ATTAINING OLD AGE

RALEIGH, N. C.—Rep. Charles M. Stedman, (D.) of North Carolina the oldest member of congress, scoffs at the time-honored recipes for attaining a ripe old age.

Major Stedman, at the age of 86, eats what he pleases, smokes when he desires and works hard.

"The whole secret of my long and active life is the Providence of God," he said. "He fixes the time for the death of all persons. I know my time is already fixed by Providence, and it doesn't worry me."

Graduating from college at the age of twenty, Major Steadman entered the Confederate army as a private in 1861, was wounded three times and emerged as a major. A lawyer, he held many public offices in North Carolina before coming to congress sixteen years ago.

"I smoke more cigers than the ordinary man, and have smoked a great deal most of my life," he said "I eat anything that I like that is set on the table before me. I do much walking at home but in Washington I take no particular form of exercise. I usually retire at 10:30 and rise at 7:30."

Major Steadman prides himself on his ability to keep his work as a congressman up to date. He never refuses to answer a letter, however trivial. They come to him in great batches from all parts of North Carolina.

"I haven't given the matter of retirement a moment's consideration," he said.

He has great confidence in his state. "North Carolina at the present time is enjoying prosperity and the prospects for the future are bright," he said. "The state has a magnificent climate, great resources, a conservative people and is in the midst of an era of great industrial activity."

Don't Envy Doctors.
A Modern Devil.
93 Rebukes 80.
Ceiling 100 Miles High.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.]

RECENTLY a doctor of middle age was murdered because he refused to answer a late night call. The woman calling him had died.

Sunday, in Brooklyn, a similar shocking tragedy occurred. A doctor, called by the family of a sick child, was delayed by some cause unknown. The child died and the doctor, arriving 20 minutes after the death, was murdered by inmates of the household, his throat cut, in revenge for the child's death.

MEDICINE is a profession not to be envied, or entered upon lightly. Four hundred years before Christ, Hippocrates, first real doctor, wrote the oath that begins:

"I swear by Appollo, the physician, and Asciepius and Hygeia and Panac, invoking all the gods and goddesses to be my witnesses that I will fulfill this oath and this written covenant to the best of my power and of my judgment."

When he worded that oath, binding those that swore to the most severe and loyal public service, Hippocrates realized the danger of his profession. He said, "I hold it to be physicianly to abstain from treating those who are overwhelmed by disease," meaning those absolutely incurable.

IN ancient days the doctor's work was considered by the ignorant a work of magic, and failure might have caused resentment and murder.

That Brooklyn tragedy proves the wisdom of Hippocrates' ruling. Getting little thanks of pay when they succeeded, risking defamation or even death when they fail, you need not envy physicians their work.

JOHN WOLLMAN reported to a religious sect of old fashioned views—very fundamentalist—that an evil spirit had taken possession of his wife, 35 years old. That seemed easy to the two reverend gentlemen that took the evil spirit in hand.

They knew he had to eat or get out, so that gave the woman no food for five days, and kept her tied down to her bed for three days. Prayers were said continuously, and probably the devil would soon have been discouraged.

BUT modernist business men heard about it, released the woman, called in regular doctors and the religious demonstration was spoiled.

CHAUNCEY DEPEW, aged 93, rebukes the young eighty-year-old Edison for saying, if he ever said it, "the work of God has no meaning for me."

Depew said in his private car on the way to Florida, "I am more firmly anchored to the Bible than ever before, and believe implicity in its teachings and the God it portrays."

TWO UNHURT AS $15,000 BLAST HITS J. W. BATEY DWELLING HERE

Accumulated Fumes in Basement Ignite From Furnace.

FIRE FOLLOWS

Mrs. Flora Pomeroy, 75, and Grandson Showered With Debris.

Two-story brick home of J. Willard Batey, 726 Bradshaw avenue, was wrecked by an explosion of accumulated gas in the basement, followed by fire, at 10:15 o'clock last night, entailing a loss estimated at $15,000.

Nearby Homes Rocked.

Mrs. Flora Pomeroy, 75, mother of Mrs. Batey, and her five-year-old grandson, James Willard Batey, Jr., only inmates of the house at the time of the blast, were unhurt.

The fire was extinguished by the Central department.

Scores of nearby homes were rocked by the force of the explosion. Windows in one side of the Charles Pomeroy residence, which adjoins the Batey dwelling were shattered.

Mr. and Mrs. Batey were spending the evening with friends, leaving Mrs. Pomeroy, who resides with them, in charge of their son. Batey said that he visited the basement to attend the furnace about 7:45 o'clock, but scented no gas.

One Wall Collapses.

Mrs. Pomeroy was reading in the living room at the time of the blast. She had undressed her grandson, who was asleep on a davenport in the room. She said that she scented no gas during the evening, although she had occasion to visit the kitchen and other parts of the first floor.

The east wall of the house collapsed and a section of the north or front wall also gave way. The sun parlor, under which is located the coal bins, connected with the cellar by a single doorway, was lifted from its foundation and carried into the front yard. Both the south and west side walls were badly bulged.

Frightened by the detonation, Mrs. Pomeroy attempted to use the telephone but found the connection had been broken by the force of the blast. Her grandson was awakened by the explosion, and Mrs. Pomeroy and the child were on their way out of the house through an aperture when they were met by a neighbor.

Owner Heard Detonation.

Within a few minutes hundreds of persons had gathered around the house. Fearful that the remaining walls on the house might collapse, allowing the roof to crash, a call was sent to police headquarters. Special Policeman Leslie Curran responded. He remained on duty there throughout the night.

Mrs. Pomeroy and her grandson went to the home of Mrs. William Wells, nearby, where they spent the

Merton is Recalled As Witness Against Daugherty, Miller

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—Richard Merton, German metal magnate, was recalled to the stand at the Daugherty-Miller conspiracy trial today for questioning by Judge John Knox, presiding.

Merton told Judge Knox that he could not remember in detail his conversations with King or Jess Smith, Daugherty's right hand man, regarding the claim. King told him that a lawyer was not needed to handle the case, and later King took the matter over from Dulles.

Dulles had already learned from the alien property custodian's office that the claim probably could not be allowed, and Judge Knox wanted to learn if King knew of this at the time he took the case, but Merton could not recall.

HUSBAND, RETURNING FROM HIS WORK AS RAIL CALLER, MAKES DISCOVERY

Door of House Was Open, and Radio Was Grinding Out Tune, When Man Finds Wife's Beaten Form in Sleeping Porch—Son's Body Was in Basement.

CONNEAUT, O., Feb. 15.—Beaten almost to a pulp, the bodies of Mrs. Celia Brown, 27, and her son, Frederick Brown, Jr., 5, were found early today in the Brown bungalow, three miles west of here. A baseball bat with which the double murder was committed was found by police.

According to Fred Brown, the husband and father, who called Conneaut officials, he returned from his work as caller at the Nickel Plate Engine house shortly after midnight. He found, he said, that the door of his house was open, and the radio was grinding out a tune.

In the sleeping porch the body of Mrs. Brown was lying In the basement was that of his son. Nearby was the bloody baseball bat. Both bodies were still warm, he said.

Sheriff Frank Sheldon, County Detective H. G. Hannum and Coroner William Webster arrived at the house within a few hours. An autopsy was being conducted today to determine whether or not the woman had been attacked. That robbery was not the motive was made evident when it was found that a small sum of money in the house had not been touched.

Evidence of Struggle.

Every part of the house bore evidence of a terrific struggle, made by the woman and child to save their lives. A trail of blood reached from room to room, and authorities hoped to find finger prints which would lead to establishing the identity of the slayer.

In the woman's tightly clenched fists were found bits of flesh and also strands of gray hair which she evidently tore from her slayer before he beat her to death.

With this discovery, Conneaut officials sent to Erie for bloodhounds to trail the murderer.

A suspect was arrested by authorities this morning, but after brief questioning he was released.

Brown was in a state of near collapse when authorities arrived. A police guard has been placed around the home.

Brown went to the home of the nearest neighbor, L. N. Cutler, about 400 feet distant, and called Conneaut police. County authorities were summoned from Jefferson.

Neighbors said they heard no sound of a struggle nor any outcry during the evening.

He will visit Ohio, Illinois, and Indiana.

Union Chief Says Mine Owners are Fostering Strike

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 15.—John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, today charged before the joint wage conference that certain influential soft coal operators were fostering a strike in the industry this spring in order to force up coal prices.

He also turned his guns on the United States senators from West Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee, who led the fight against the confirmation of Cyrus E. Woods of Pennsylvania to the interstate commerce commission. These senators, he declared, were either "in the service or direct employ of the non-union coal operators who are attempting to maintain discriminatory freight rates on lake coal shipments from the non-union fields."

FRANCE REJECTS PRESIDENT COOLIDGE'S DISARMAMENT PROPOSALS; JAPAN IS WILLING TO PARTICIPATE IN PARLEY

BY HARRY R. FLORY.

PARIS, Feb. 15.—The French cabinet, meeting with President Doumergue, today gave its unanimous approval to the reply to the disarmament proposals of President Coolidge.

The reply will be handed to the American embassy this afternoon. It is understood the reply is in effect a rejection of the American proposals.

"The note is perfect," said Minister of Marine Leygues," following the cabinet meeting.

M. Briand, foreign minister, who drafted the note, said it would probably be published late this afternoon or tomorrow.

The reply, couched in diplomatic terms and sympathetic in tone, is nevertheless of rebuff for the Coolidge proposals which may spell their defeat.

Spells Defeat of Plan.

Minister of Interior Sarraut informed the International News Service that the note "points out firstly that the league of nations is now handling disarmament problems, and secondly that naval disarmament interests all nations not only the five big powers."

"France can't take the problem of disarmament from the league of nations—that is the fist of the note," said M. Sarraut.

International News Service learns that the French reply leaves little in the way of a loophole for any counter-proposals and in French circles it is generally believed that it spells the end of the Coolidge proposals.

Italy, it is learned, has indicated that she sympathizes with the French viewpoint and even in Great Britain, the admiralty has some objects to offer which might prevent a complete acceptance by the British government.

The next move of President Coolidge is awaited here with keen interest.

Japan's Stand on Cruisers.

TOKIO, Feb. 15.—Japan is willing to participate in President Coolidge's armament parley, Premier Wakatsuki told the government peers today, but it is impossible for the government to cancel the appropriation for three cruisers.

The premier's statement was made before the upper house of the diet and in answer to questions concerning President Coolidge's proposals.

The premier declared Japan's naval and military forces were at a minimum strength.

No Reduction of Armament.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—France's decision to reject President Coolidges overtures for a new naval disarmament conference was accepted in Washington today as indicating there will be no effective reduction of armament, either on land or sea, for a long time to come.

The powers will reconvene in Geneva next month, under the auspices of the league of nations, to talk about it They talked about it for six months last year without making any appreciable headway, and there is little expectation here that renewed discussions will get any further.

American delegates who spent tedious hours in the Geneva meeting reported to administration officials that the conference was seemingly futile They said the gathering was dominated by France and her small continental allies, and that it was useless to continue discussions wherein countries that had no navies had an equal vote on naval questions with those powers possessing great navies.

The Anglo-American position was and is that naval disarmament should be dealt with by those powers having naval establishments, and that land disarmament should be dealt with by those powers having a vital interest in the size of neighboring military establishments. This position has been consistently rejected in the Geneva gatherings in accordance with the French thesis that land and sea questions are interdependent. Consequently, the Geneva conference has seen Czecho-Slovakia, Jugo-Slavia and Poland gravely voting with France on naval questions, even though they possess no navies that could be affected by the conclusions reached.

It was to end this farcial situation that President Coolidge proposed that the naval powers equip their delegates with authority to actually make a new naval treaty upon their return to Geneva. His memorandum was addressed only to the naval powers Great Britain, Japan, France and Italy.

CHAPTER FORTY.

"Why don't you kill me at once and have done with it?" I muttered at last, from which it may be judged how low my spirit had fallen.

"That most foolish and impulsive action. Excellent English proverb say 'Murder will out.' Always foolish kill person unless no other way. We not kill you, Mr. Quexter. You join Doctor Kuntz's home permanently. That much better plan. No corpses, no inconvenience of dead bodies, or in or in strong words of remarkable American poet, no 'stale cadavers blocking up the passage.' You quite safe in Home."

"But you can't keep me here for ever," I burst out, the thought of returning to that mad crew being altogether too much for my self-control.

"Not necessary to keep patient very long, Mr. Quexter. You very ill and live perhaps for only very little time. You dangerous drug fiend; vey bad case."

He smiled upon me with an affected expression of sympathetic interest.

"I've never taken a drug in my life," I protested.

"No? Is that so—yess?" he answered. "Then tomorrow you begin very interesting experience. First two or three doses, pehaps unpleasant. After that craving comes quickly and no need to use persuasion."

He paused and looked at me as though waiting for some comment.

"You strong man, Mr. Quexter," he went on. "Last longer than most patients, perhaps eight months, perhaps nine months, possibly even one year. Then you go way of all flesh and we bury you in well-appointed cemetery attached to Nursing Home after Doctor Kuntz has performed autopsy examination in interests of medical research."

He leaned back in his chair, affably smiling. My brain refused to grasp immediately the fate in store for me, and it was only after the lapse of some moments that it dawned on me what I was to suffer. I was to be forcibly drugged till the will-destroying power of cocaine had done its work, when I should crave and whine for my own destruction like the demented creatures with whom I had been confined.

As the full horror of this revealed itself. I gave a hoarse cry, for I had no proper control over my voice, and started forward, forgetting all about the watcher in the press. The Center, however, was watching me closely. I had not left my chair when I heard the door of the press fly open, and a moment later a thin, well greased rope of great strength was slipped over my head, pinioning my arms to my side and cutting short in mid career my spring at his throat.

At that I went quite mad.

"You infernal blackguard," I shouted.

I made desperate efforts to reach him and found myself struggling furiously with two of his white-clad servants. Deprived of the use of my arms, I could, of course, do little, though I landed one of them a kick in the pit of the stomach which laid him gasping on the carpet. The cursed rope, however, seemed almost as though it were alive. It twisted itself round my thighs and ankles, and I was soon trussed up as tightly as a fowl. Presently I stood breathing hard and powerless to move beside two chairs which had been overturned during the struggle.

All this time the Center had remained quietly at his desk, seemingly unconscious of what was passing, and I became aware that he was not alone. Some one stood beside him, and with lifht of hope I saw that it was Patience. She was in a blue-green dressing gown, exquisitely embroidered with gold, and held a candle in one hand.

"Patience," I cried desperately, and then again, "Patience."

The Center rose when I called her name. For a moment he was a man transformed. His narrow eyes were half shut, and he hissed something in Japanese between his teeth, his body taut and quivering with a sudden spasm of uncontrollable passion.

Patience looked at him a moment, indulgently reproving.

"Really," she said to him, playfully affectionate, "you don't mean to say that you're jealous of big Robert."

She laid a hand on his shoulder. He almost spat at her like some wild cat, and then, recovering himself suddenly, he turned to me, again composed and smiling.

"Mr. Quexter," he said politely, "for moment I forget. I think you already met this honorable lady, but not on social footing. Allow me to introduce you my wife."

I found myself, after an incoherent interval, back in my old room from which I had made my disastrous exploration of the secret passage a few hours previously. The servants of the Center had placed me on my bed, cut my bonds and withdrawn, locking the door after them. I lay inert for I do not know how long, trying to realize the fate in store for me and to find the courage with which to face that sordid process which was to end in my death in delirium.

The one thing I fancy which kept me still master of myself was the feeling of anger and resentment with which I thought of Patience. I saw now only too clearly as I lay staring into the darkness how she had played with me all along. For her I was but one more sensation in a life which fed on sensation. The thought was bitter. Patience was married to the Center. I was filled with rage and humiliation. Yet, I could not help thinking curiously of the situation which so affronted me. How had this strange partnership come about? Was it a union of inclination, or had she merely sold herself for adventure, or for wealth? Was she really fond of that strange man, fascinated by his intriguing personality and his perverted but brilliant mind? Had I, even now, anything to hope from her interest or intervention? Or would she heartlessly accept, or perhaps even assist in my undoing?

Hopelessly at a loss, I dismissed her at last from my thoughts and considered by own position. In the morning presumably Kuntz, under the orders of the Center, would administer the first dose of whatever drug—morphia, heroin or cocaine—to which they had decided I should fall a victim. My only chance of escaping that dose was to find a way out of the room and out of the house before they came.

I rose from the bed and examined the door. It was solid and quite beyond my powers to break down. The window, as I have already said, opened inwards and was secured on the outside by strong iron bars cemented to the outer wall and quite immovable without a file. I bethought me of the secret passage and pressed the graven mouth of the holdback confining the curtains, with a vague idea of climbing up the chimney to the roof and seeking once more a way of escape by that route. Turn and twist as I would, however, there was no corresponding click, and the wall above my bed remained close shut. Evidently that passage had been barred by order of the Center.

In despair I retuned to my bed and after a time fell into an uneasy doze.

I awoke to find the room full of daylight. The voice of birds sounded outside, and the newly begun day looked ineffably sweet and inviting in comparison with my surroundings. Finding water in the jug at the washstand, I washed and made shift to shave, not knowing whether I should ever be allowed, or indeed have any inclination for, the decencies of civilization after my "cure" had begun.

In any case, I was determined to make a fight for it, unavailing though it would be. I accordingly sat down not far from the door, ready to assault the first person who opened it, and, if posible, to fight my way out of the room. Nor did I have to wait very long before I heard footsteps sounding in the corridor outside. They approached softly but firmly, and, clenching my fists, I made ready for the appearance of Doctor Kuntz, or whomever it was the Center had detailed to carry out the process of drugging me. Just outside the door the footsteps ceased and I stood motionless, my eyes fast on the door knob.

It turned slowly, and I braced myself for the blow. Then the door swung back suddenly, and at the last moment I abandoned my assault in mid-delivery.

It was Patience who entered.

VETERAN RAILROADER TRYING TO SOLVE FARMER'S PROBLEMS

By Charles P. Stewart.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—B. F. Yoakum, the railroad man, has been one of the most picturesque figures Washington has seen during the fight over farm relief legislation. For years he was the chief executive of various western railroads.

BENJAMIN YOAKUM

"B. F." views the farm problem with all the intensity of a railroader whose lines are dependent on an agricultural country for the bulk of their traffic, who realizes that said lines can't prosper unless the country they serve is prosperous, and who certainly wants to see his roads making money.

Hence, as a railroad man, he's about the most enthusiastic rooter for the farmer's interests of any individual who frequently visits the capital.

"B. F." is a farm co-operation plugger.

He can't see any equalization measure for the farmer as anything but a stimulant, which, if it gives a false sense of exaltation to argiculture for awhile, is sure to end in delirium tremens.

The agricultural invalid, he says, wants, not dope, but an operation.

He recommends the removal of the middleman and the speculator.

"B. F." may be right or wrong as to his diagnosis, but there's no doubt about its sincerity. He honestly wants agriculture to be healthy, in order to have it as a good, active customer for his railroads.

The agricultural co-operative operation has been performed on a small—that is to say, a statewide—scale, with excellent results, "B. F." points out.

But how, he asks, can an intrastate operation be expected to give more than purely local relief to an inter-state patient, suffering from an inter-state malady?

What "B. F." wants is national agricultural co-operation, and he says an operation of federal proportions is required to make it possible.

In simplest language, B. F. Yoakum wants to cut everybody out of agriculture but producer, consumer, and transportation agent, between them.

But unless the government provides the liaison, he doesn't believe it's possible. Otherwise it's to the interest of too many brokers to chip in and reap a profit out of the transaction.

That's why he demands federal legislation.

"B. F." is about the only survival of the original railroad builders, on a large scale, in the country.

The southwest was his field, and he started with a construction crew.

He shoveled dirt and laid ties on the lines he subsequently was president of. He never was a wivel chair railroader.

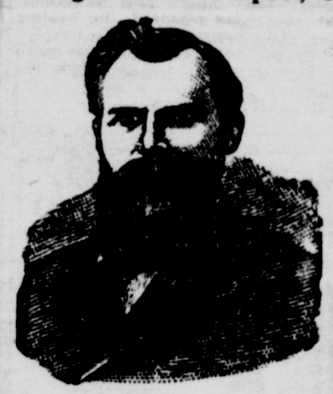

He's a tall, big-boned old man, with the face of a fighter.

"B. F." created states like Texas. He found the raw material and developed it, with a pick and shovel and at the end of a six-gun.

He has his adverse critics, who say times have changed and that he no longer knows, from his offices in New York, what the new west requires.

All the same, he had a large share

English Capital Boasts Artificial Rink for All-year Skaters

LONDON.—Once more there is to be all-year skating in London.

A palatial building, where it is always winter, has been put up at Grosevenor Road, London, for the benefit of those who want curling and skating without having to go abroad to a winter resort.

It will be known as the London Ice Club and will be the first time for ten years that the city has had an artificial ice rink.

The club will be run exclusively on social lines, and its 16,000 square feet of ice will be for members and their friends only. Life memberships cost $500 and there will be an entrance fee of $65 and an annual subscription fee of the same amount.

The ice rink is 170 feet long and 100 feet wide. Underneath the concrete bed is an extensive system of piping of the refrigerating apparatus.

British figure skating championships will be held there next March and the world's championships probably the year after.

"... because the Oakland Six is built to a degree of precision previously unknown in cars of its price"

You need not make any extended comparisons to understand why the Greater Oakland Six is so emphatically preferred by those who demand of their cars not only satisfying beauty and performance but also unusually long life and reliability.

$1095 SEDAN

The answer lies in the fundamental principle of Oakland construction—because the Oakland Six is built to a degree of precision previously unknown in cars of its price!

True, Oakland provides unexampled beauty and style by the use of superior Fisher bodies; and an extraordinary agility, smoothness and silence by employing such advanced engineering features as the exclusive Rubber-Silenced Chassis and the Harmonic Balancer.

But by working to limits that once typified the hand-built car, by following such extraordinary practices as diamond boring all piston pin bushings and balancing all rotating parts from transmission to rear axle—

—Oakland achieves a resistance to wear, tear and road shock that actually borders on the unbelievable!

You need only to talk to veteran Oakland owners—or observe veteran Oakland Sixes in action—to understand why the trend of fine car buying continues to swing so strongly toward the Greater Oakland Six.

No Death In The Mail

Congress has atoned for long neglect of a notorious evil by enacting a law denying the use of the mails for carrying pistols and revolvers. This measure, the Miller bill, recently signed by President Coolidge, is excellent as far as it goes. Deadly weapons capable of being concealed on the person may still be made and sold freely, to robbers and murderers as well as respectable folk, as far as Uncle Sam is concerned; but Uncle refuses to collaborate with the criminals by bringing the weapons to them.

This will stop a considerable mail order trade in such weapons. If any legitimate interests are thereby harmed, that is lamentable but cannot be helped. Any injustice done, however, will be only temporary. Some of the mail order houses had already stopped mailing pocket firearms, from a sense of public duty.

There remains the possibility of criminals obtaining weapons from private sources. The firearms are still manufactured without restriction, and likewise sold without restriction in many states, and this situation results in a fairly easy and safe contraband traffic in states which have regulatory laws. Unless uniform state legislation can be obtained to correct this evil, the federal government eventally will be obliged to go the whole distance, and exercise federal control itself over the entire firearms industry.

Japs And Americans

A hundred Japanese schoolboys who toured the western part of the United States last summer have been writing their impressions, and their report surprises a lot of people on both sides of the Pacific. In general they find more to praise than blame in America. One of their most unexpected verdicts is that Americans in public places are more polite than Japanese in their own homes.

Here is one young man's comment on our own people, not especially complimentary, but illuminating:

"Americans like sports, particularly the kind of acrobatic sports that give thrills. Moreover, they like betting. They like noisy music instead of a decent kind. They are fond of comic motion pictures and in every town there are amusement parks where crowds of children and grown-ups make all sorts of fuss. Judging from these traits, I can say that they are naughty, cheerful, innocent, simple-hearted people."

Really, isn't that about the truth? And now for Jap comment on the Japanese problem in this country:

"I presume it is natural enough," writes another youth, "that Japanese are not welcomed in America, because they live in dirty wooden dwellings, clad in unclean, worn-out clothes, and work hard every day. They keep themselves from social affairs, being eager only to save money and then return to their homes. I think it is only reasonable that Americans exclude Japanese. They should act like Americans and not be unsightly. They might well stay there after they have saved money. They would do more good for Japan by staying than by coming back to their motherland where the population increases by 700,000 yearly."

It is a good thing to have Japanese lads speaking so plainly to their own people. It would be equally good if 100 American lads were to visit Japan and give their opinions of that country, in comparison with our own.

Radio Beacons

Light beacons are useful for aircraft, as lighthouses are for ships at sea. The United States government has been establishing such beacons along its chief mail routes, for night flying. But there is a new and more wonderful device to guide the air pilot, which works by radio and makes no light at all.

It is called the "radio beacon." It shows the pilot continuously, by means of radio signals, whether he is flying in the right direction.

In a trial the other day, an airplane flew from Detroit to Dayton and back, depending on radio beacons alone to direct its course, and experienced no difficulty whatever. Such a device has been used occasionally by army fliers. It will probably be applied to all commercial flying in the future, supplemented by the lights which must be depended on for landing in the dark.

The fine thing about this directional method is that it will work equally well by day or night and make the pilot almost independent of weather. For this reason it is likely to be used also by steamships hereafter, enabling them to keep on their course more accurately than they could if depending on the compass alone. It should be especially useful in a fog.

Who could ever have imagined 20 years ago, a mechanical voice coming out of empty space at the will of a traveler, by day or night, telling him unfailingly when he is on the right course and instantly warning him when he deviates from it? Here is magic greater than Aladdin's.

A rose by any other name might smell as sweet, but wouldn't sell so well; and so the Florida fruit growers insist on calling the "alligator pear" by its polite name of "avocado."

Some of us, after observing Mexico for the last decade or two, can't quite see why anybody should want to own any of it for as much as 50 years.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—The Sixty Club, for many years a weekly, midnight-to-dawn roundup for people of the stage and screen has apparently expeired of inanition. Gate-crashers changed it from a social celebrity gathering into a sort of commercialized jag.

Uninvited, but tolerated, brash young counter jumpers on the loose filled the dance floor and black eyes and dangling teeth resulted. It was notu nusual for a patrol wagon or ambulance to back up and cart away a casualty or so.

So hilarious did the gatherings grow that several near tragedies resulted—one young lady, after leaving the club, fell down stairs and broke her spine. The actual members, meditating upon these larks, dropped their membership in hot haste.

In its stead arose the Mayfair Club which is maintaining the exclusiveness intended for the original organization. Only the members may invite guests and the number is limited. The noticeable dereliction brings an "All tables reserved" dictum from the head waiter.

Stage and screen stars are becoming acutely conscious of the fact unsavory gossip has a decided effect on box office values. Because they are in the public eye, stories about them are usually exaggerated. A slowly sipped cocktail may be bloated to an attack of D. T.'s.

Stage and movie producers have proved in the counting rooms that those with enduring drawing power are those whose reputations have not been besmirched. Scandal often draws a few curious, but that is all. It won't buy limousines, pearls and things.

Nothing—not even the Egyptian obelisk, the art gallery or the Shakespeare garden—seems to excite so much curious interest in Central Park as the lone kindfaced cow in the rolling pasture near Sixty-Sixth street. There is always a crowd gazing over the fence at this pastoral touch so near the city's jangle. It is especially interesting to tenement children who have never seen a cow. Their eyes saucer with awe.

A New Yorker, taking his fifth bride, received this wire from a friend: "Congratulations. It is so like you to be marrying someone."

It is announced future buildings on Fifth Avenue may be limited to six or seven stories. New York changes too rapidly and 50-storied sky-scrapers are likely to become obsolete in ten years, thus resulting in a tremendous financial loss. The idea is to build them quick and tear them down.

An indignant traveler sends a burning letter to a newspaper, complaining he became so interested in the art gallery in the Grand Central Terminal he missed two trains for the west. That's taking up art and making it hum.

I saw John D. Rockefeller, Jr., turn on the sidewalk to observe a professional dancer in one of those half block long automobiles with uniformed chauffeur and foot man sitting in the front seat as immobile as if chipped from stone. And there he was walking in the cold.

And on Park Avenue a few weeks ago I saw a man wearing a silk hat and fur collared coat in a dog trot pulling a child along on a bob sled.

Long hair for ladies is making some headway. Three, well-known for their beauty, have permitted their tresses to grow and are adopting a slicked-back, parted in the middle with a knot in the back effect. Somewhat like Maggie of the comic strip.

SPOKEN IN PASSING.

When you hear two natural wheezes, both unintentional, in one day at one place you are entitled, I think, to enter that date in your calendar with red ink. In my own personal experience I recall only one such.

It was in June of 1918, over in France. A negro regiment had gone in under fire and the punishment being heavy and the troops being green at actual warfare, one battalion had broken. Stragglers were sifting back through the supporting lines.

A small yellow private came hurrying rearward. Men of a white regiment lying alongside the road waiting for the order to advance began guying him for his haste. Some of them were so ungracious as to recall that the colored boys the night before had been bragging of what they meant to do to the enemy. In reply to a particularly barbed taunt the retreating soldier, without slacking his gait, cast a sidewise glance over his shoulder and said:

"Lis'sen we now admits we aint no bear cats!"

A few minutes large a big black soldier passed, also moving toward the real with speed. In reply to a question as to why his company had broken he halted just long enough to say:

"Co'se we pulled out. Dey didn't give us no propah suppote! Why, day didn't even give us no garage!"

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Automobile Data.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Automobile data for 1926 as compiled by Alfred Reeves for the American Automobile association reveal every pertinent fact relating directly to the great industry except how many millions or billions Henry Ford is worth and the comparative earnings of General Motors and other big corporations. Armed with the Reeves table you can tell in a jiffy whether your neighbor paid cash for his car or bought it on the installment plan, whether he fictionizes about the number of miles he gets per gallon of gas, and what the lowdown is on his tire consumption.

For the year the total production of motor vehicles was 4,480,000, as compared with 4,336,754 in 1925. Of the grand aggregate, 530,000 were trucks. The production of closed cars reached 2,926,000, which was 74 per cent of the total output, and far and away a larger percentage than ever before.

Translating these figures into money it is found that the wholesale value of the 1926 cars was $2,622,450,000 and that of the trucks $434,500,000 a total of well over three billions.

The number of tires manufactured during the year was 63,000,000 and the wholesale value of motor vehicle tires for replacement was $775,000,000. Parts and accessories for replacement were valued at $600,000,000. Motor vehicle taxes amounted to $735,226,000.

The average retail price of cars was $886 and that of trucks $1,090. These figures would seem to indicate that the retailer's margin is from 20 to 25 per cent.

In all there are about 3,500,000 persons employed in the motor vehicle and allied lines, but no information is available as to how much they find in their pay envelopes each week. It is a safe assumption, however, that the larger part of the three billion odd dollars of wholesale value of cars and trucks produced during the year and a fair share of the retailers' margin went for wages and salaries.

Registration Figures.

The total number of motor vehicles registered in the United States in 1926 was 22,330,000. They would make a parade that would extend around the earth at the equator and they'd have to be driven too close together for safety. In the whole world there were registered approximately 27,500,000 motor vehicles, which gives this country 81 per cent of the total. That the farmer is going in strong for the steeds that feed on gas instead of hay and oats is shown by the fact that almost 5,000,000 of the motor vehicles in the United States are on farms.

There are in all 3,001,825 miles of highways in this country, of which 560,000 miles are surfaced or improved roads. Detours have not been counted.

Now, as to how it is possible for so many people to own and operate cars when you know that they really could not afford to buy and maintain a pair of roller skates, be it known that 64 per cent of the new cars, and an unknown percentage of the used cars, are sold on the installment plan. That is to say, almost two-thirds of the cars you see on city streets and country highways have mortgages on them. The average note at time of purchase is, for new cars, $595, and for used cars, $277, while the grand total of automobile paper that was outstanding at the end of last year was $1,378,000,000.

Taking up the question of the automobile's relation to other business it is found that 3,160,000 carloads of automotive freight were shipped over the railroads of the country last year; of the rubber imported into this country the automobile industry takes 83 per cent, and it takes 50 per cent of the plate glass that is manufactured, 12 per cent of the copper that is produced, and an equal proportion of the iron and steel that is turned out every twelve-month.

Gasoline consumed by motor vehicles during the year amounted to 8,650,000,000 gallons while the oil consumption ran to 560,000,000 gallons. These figures might be so analyzed as to throw some light on the moot question whether the Fords or the Rockefellers have most of the money in the world, but Mr. Reeves makes no offering along that line. He does, however, state that 712,891,000 pounds of crude rubber were used in automobile tires in 1926, which would explain the earnings of the British rubber monopoly. Also, it is to be noted that 227,512,000 pounds of cotton fabric were used in the tires, which should have been a big help to the cotton growers of the South.

Buses Increase in Number.

During the year 15,000 motor buses were produced and 80,000 were in operation. Many of these buses are used for transporting school children in rural districts, the number of consolidated schools using motor transportation during the year being 15,332. Street railways—344 of them—operated 7,000 buses, while 41 railroads operated 510 buses. Railroads using gasoline rail motor coaches on short lines numbered 190, and 60 railroads operated motor trucks as part of their shipping service.

Figures on the retail end of the motor vehicle business, aside from the

SERMON GIVEN BY EVANGELIST

Rev. L. S. Hoover Speaks in Oakland Church.

Evangelist L. S. Hoover, Tionesta, Pa., who opened a revival campaign Sunday in the Oakland Free Methodist church, spoke to a large crowd last night on the subject, "Moral Certainty."

He spoke in part as follows: "A saving knowledge of God's forgiveness of our sins is absolutely essential to our peace. If we could not know we had salvation we would not know when we lost it if we should lose it and we could never have peace.

"There is a positive note in every Christian testimony, 'we know we have passed from death unto life' is the universal standard of christian experience.

"The question arises, 'How do Christians know they are saved?' The answer is, first by faith. When a soul repents and meets conditions of salvation as made known in God's word and then believes the promise—it is so because God says so. Again, they know by the consciousness of spiritual life imparted to the soul in regeneration the desires of spiritual life are so different from the sinner's natural desires that it is very noticeable. If any man be in Christ he is a new creature. Old things have passed away and behold all things have become new.

"Then again they know by the direct witness of the holy spirit to the new born soul. The spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit that we are, not shall be, the children of God. Every real christian knows how, when and where they were converted and has present assurance of sins forgiven.

"Do you know you are saved. If not you are not saved; seek ye the Lord while He may be found and become the happy possessor of a know so salvation."

Rev. Mr. Hoover will have as his subject tonight "The Fairness of the Gospel Offer."

Los Angeles Leads Cities of World in Tubs and Showers

LOS ANGELES. — Los Angeles has more tubs and showers for bathing purposes than any other city in the world.

This was the text of a communication sent to Dr. George Parrish, health commissioner, by M. S. Siegel, of the Bureau of Housing and Sanitation, the other day.

Siegel's conclusion is based on the strict observance of the state housing and sanitation laws which provide for baths in every home and in a majority of business establishments.

Even in Los Angeles' Chinatown there are bath tubs, Siegel declared.

Siegel in his letter also intimates that the baths both in Chinatown and elsewhere are regularly used, basing this conclusion on the huge daily consumption of water.

matter of prices and how automobile purchases are financed, show that there are in the United States 53,360 car and truck dealers. It is interesting to note, too, that there is an almost equal number of public garages, 51,715, to be exact, while there are 83,758 service stations and repair shops and 66,584 supply stores.

Somewhat more than 10 per cent of the motor vehicles produced in the United States last year—550,000—were exported, their total value, including spare part, engines, and tires being $475,000,000. The increase in this export business was for the year three per cent. Only 820 automobiles were imported into this country in 1926, which would seem to indicate that the United States produces almost everything in automotives that people with discrimination and the means to indulge it can want.

This is the season of automobile shows all over the United States, the New York opening event being well over, and it is said that the big feature of the shows is the absence of the touring or open car. Sport cats of the roadster or runabout type are still being made, but it seems that the area of the car that was designed to give you the air, and lots of it, has passed. The customers, cash and credit, have discovered that they can get all the air they want in a car that gives them the maximum of protection against rain, snow, dust, bugs, et cetera, and that's the type of car they are buying now. At the Washington show only one open car was exhibited.

And, speaking of automobiles, how about a thought anent the traffic problem? The idea is now being agitated in Washington that the regulations should be so amended that the passing on the right of a car going in the same direction be permitted. It is contended that traffic congestion is due in a large degree to the fact that so many drivers hug the center of the street, and then drive slowly, and that there is no possible way of avoiding them except by passing on the right.

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Around a garage you're bound to get hurt

Trouble gone after few applications of simple remedy

As he came in from work in the evening, a garage worker of Shreveport, La., felt a pain in his left leg above the ankle, and the next morning it was badly swollen and worried him when walking.

"I applied Sloan's Liniment to it that night," he writes, "and the pain nearly all left. I applied it again and the next day the swelling was all gone. For all aches and pains I find nothing to beat Sloan's Liniment. I keep a bottle in the garage where I work."

Sloan's gets results because it stirs up the body's own powers to heal itself. Just pat it on, and at once you can feel the fresh blood tingling through the sick tissues. Inflammation, swelling, stiffness, pain, begin to give way at once.

Get a bottle today and have it on hand. All druggists—35 cents.

Like a Boy at 50—Full of Life and Energy

Brimming Over With Vim and Vitality That Keeps Him Keen, Active and Alert!

In a recent discourse a well known New York Doctor said: "Altogether too many people, especially those between the ages of 40 and 60, are suffering from weakness, nervous disorders, kidney, bladder, prostate and liver complaints, rheumatism, neuritis, dangerously high blood pressure, stomach and intestinal troubles, sleeplessness and general debility. Yet, with the marvelous restorative Radium power supplied by ARIUM, it should be easy for them to rapidly rebuild much of their strength, power and youthful activity.

"I know of one man 50 years old who was broken in health from several of these distressing ailments, but after taking ARIUM found that his blood pressure had been reduced to that of a boy of 20, he was able to enter gaily into the sports of the young folks, go to his business with a keen, alert mind and put in long hours without fatigue. In fact, thanks to ARIUM, he was really as full of vigor, vim and vitality as when a young man."

If you want to quickly enrich your blood, strengthen your nerves, put more youthful power into the veins as well as fortify your body against disease and signs of premature old age, simply try taking ARIUM for a short time and watch results. A multitude of alarming symptoms often quickly disappear. You should see and feel a truly startling improvement in yourself each day.

NOTE: The Associated Radium Chemists, Inc., of New York, which supplies druggists with ARIUM guarantees successful and satisfactory results from its progressive use in every case or money refunded, and also that a definite quantity of genuine radium is used in its preparation. ARIUM is easy and economical to take and may now be readily obtained in this city from any good druggist such as

Chas. T. Larkins, Carnahan's, Herche's Drug Store and Mathews.

Civic Music Society Will Present Denishawn Dancers

Reservations for Special Attraction at Ceramic Theatre on Feb. 28 Will be Made on Feb. 25.

Reservations for the Denishawn Dancers, third and last number of the Civic Music association's 1926-27 course, who are scheduled to appear at the Ceramic theatre on Monday evening, February 28, will open at the theatre box office at 9 a. m., Friday, February 25.

No mail reservations will be made except to patrons in Salineville, Midland or other out-of-town places. All members are guaranteed seats as the number of tickets is limited to the seating capacity of the theatre.

The troop is headed by Ruth St. Denis and Ted Shawn, internationally known dancers. The company returned to the United States last December after an 18-month tour of the Orient.

Miss St. Denis has danced before great audiences in Europe and America for many years, and has won her unique position in the world of art largely through her interpretation of Oriental themes.

She has at last seen the East; its art, people, customs and countries. She is bringing back new impressions, new dance material, new customs and settings, but it is the spirit of the East which still claims her attention and her artistry, and it is this which she will continue to translate for us.

Miss St. Denis has experienced in India the greatest triumph of her career. When her Indian managers requested the East Indian dances, "The Saree," and the "Nautch," with her characteristic modesty she replied, "Coals to Newcastle," but at last overpersuaded, she complied, and to her great surprise found that her fame as an Indian dancer had gone from one end of that country to the other, apparently overnight.

She was immediately obliged to insert a clause in her contract which required the Indian dances to be performed at each appearance throughout the five months in which the Denishawn company appeared continuously in India, and night after night, her audiences, shouting, screaming and applauding, literally in a frenzy of delight, refused to let her go. Often times, even in the extreme heat, these dances were done three and four times.

Miss St. Denis has purchased from Genashi Lahl at Agra, from the famous old shops of Benares, Calcutta and Bombay, beautiful sarees and costumes, materials and jewelry, which she will use in the new American program, which will greatly enhance the dances, but costumes and trappings avail little without the spiritual understanding of a people whose art-forms are to be transported.

Here's Real Relief From Neuritis

In 24 to 48 Hours Pains Are Often Relieved and You Get Rest and Comfort Again.

Torturing pains—the kind that pierce and burn and never seem to let up—that rob a man of his sleep—that make him just a bag of nerves and all worn out.

Those are the pains that dope and coal tar products can only partially relieve.

The safest and most efficient way to get rid of the persistent, nerve-racking pains of Neuritis is to get a bottle of Allenrhu Special Formula No. 2. Be sure you get No. 2, which comes in capsule form. Take these little dark green capsules as directed and in about 24 hours you should be able to notice that they have considerably reduced if not almost banished those severe, torturing pains that have caused you so many sleepless nights. Continue for two or three days more or until you are satisfied with results.

It doesn't matter how long you may have suffered or whether your Neuritis is in the shoulder, arm, neck or legs, Allenrhu Special Formula No. 2 should give you speedy relief. J. D. Holloway and Mathews Med. Store or any good druggist will be glad to supply you.

OHIO PROPOSAL PUTS BAN ON CIGARETTE ADVERTISING

ANTI-FAG BILL HITS DISPLAYS ON BILLBOARDS

HEAVY PENALTIES

Columbiana Representative Sponsors Institute Measure.

By C. H. HADDOX.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 15.—A bill forbidding advertisements of cigarettes where children under 21 years of age will see them, and prohibiting persons from giving cigarettes to minors for advertising purposes is pending in the Ohio house of representatives today.

It was introduced by Representative J. W. Beck, Montgomery county. In the title of the measure is the declaration that it is designed to "protect the childhood of the state."

The bill defines "advertising" as including "the showing of words, or pictures, on billboards or on any other outdoor display, or any other place where persons under 21 years of age may see such words, or pictures, as well as the furnishing, or giving away, of cigarettes to persons under 21 for advertising purposes."

Violators of the proposed act would be liable to fines ranging from $100 to $5,000 and imprisonment in the county jail from one to six months.

Representative Woehrle, Columbus, Democrat, is author of a bill providing for a single ballot at primary elections for the purpose of preventing voters from being compelled to disclose their party affiliations. All party tickets would be on one ballot. The ballot of any voter who voted for candidates on more than one ticket would be void.

A bill by Representative Ray C. Carpenter, Seneca county, would abolish the office of village treasurer and assign the duties of that office to the village clerk.

Representative B. P. Vandament, Clermont county, offered a bill providing for state highway patrolmen, under direction of the director of highways, to supervise repair and to police designated sections of the highways.

Provision that Ohio history must be taught in the seventh or eighth grades in the public schools is contained in a bill by Representative H. S. Hume, Noble county.

Recodification of present laws relating to certification of school teachers is sought in a bill introduced by Representative L. P. Mooney, Hocking county. Representative Grant P. Ward, Franklin county offered a bill increasing salaries of boards of election members and clerks in cities having more than 200 000 population each.

Fixes Date for Institutes.

Fines up to $500 and 60-day jail sentences are provided in a bill by Representative J. S. McKinley, Franklin county, for persons who enter premises for the purpose of stealing grain, fruits, vegetables, cereals, seeds, hay, wool, chickens or livestock.

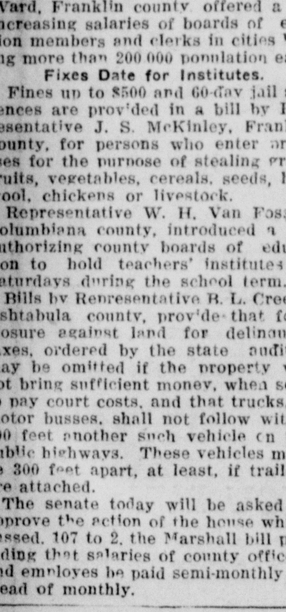

Representative W. H. Van Fossen, Columbiana county, introduced a bill authorizing county boards of education to hold teachers' institutes on Saturdays during the school term.

Bills by Representative B. L. Creesy, Ashtabula county, provide that foreclosure against land for delinquent taxes, ordered by the state auditor, may be omitted if the property will not bring sufficient money, when sold, to pay court costs, and that trucks, or motor busses, shall not follow within 100 feet another such vehicle on the public highways. These vehicles must be 300 feet apart, at least, if trailers are attached.

The senate today will be asked to approve the action of the house which passed, 107 to 2, the Marshall bill providing that salaries of county officers and employes be paid semi-monthly instead of monthly.

Astronomy has damaged that theory, and we know that above your head, or below your feet is a straight line (with apologies to Einstein). You can travel a distance equal to 1,000,000 light years, the distance light could travel at 186,000 miles a second in 1,000,000 years, and find only other stars, planets and such things. No heaven, no hell.

Now science finds that there is a sort of ceiling, only 100 miles above us. It is called "a radio ceiling," and Carnegie institute scientists prove that the strange ceiling, a layer in the atmosphere, "bends radio waves back to earth."

There is the power of gravitation that pulls solid matter back to earth. Is there a power that draws back electric substance, whatever it may be?

FOUR PERSONS ASPHYXIATED

Four Others Overcome by Escaping Gas in New York.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—Two men and two women were killed and four persons were overcome today by coal gas escaping in an apartment house in Brooklyn.

Two of the victims were married recently and were found in each other's arms. They apparently were overcome while the husband was attempting to carry his bride from their gas-filled apartment.

Of those overcome, three were children. They were revived by neighbors who entered the apartments through windows when they failed to receive responses to their knocks and found the doors were locked.

The dead:

Abraham Pollock, 30.

Mildred Pollock, his wife, 20.

Mrs. Rose Pollock, 25, sister-in-law of Abraham.

Solomon Pollock, 30, brother of Abraham.

When neighbors broke into the Pollock apartment they found Mildred and Abraham Pollock on the floor clasped in each other's arms. The janitor was held for questioning and the owner of the apartment house also was summoned.

DRUGGIST SAYS RUDNER HINTED ATTACK ON FOE

Another Blow Struck at Alleged "Pay-off" Man.

OFFER DECLINED

Expert Says Defendant Wrote Telegram Sent to McDermott.

CANTON, O., Feb. 15.—Stanley Baltzly, Massillon druggist, today told the jury trying Ben Rudner as the "pay-off" man in the murder of Don R. Mellett, vice-crusading editor, last July, that Rudner suggested to him last summer that he have a man with whom he had had trouble "beaten up."

Baltzly was recalled to the stand today because he said yesterday that he "knew a lot more."

Rudner told him that if he did not want to beat up this man himself, Baltzly testified, that he (Rudner) would furnish a couple of men to do it.

Later, Baltzly continued, Rudner came to his store, saying:

"My friends are here now. Point out that fellow and I'll have them put the works on him, if you still want him beaten up."

Baltzly declared that the offer was declined.

Max Stroub, a Canton photographer presented photographs of the telegram received by Pat McDermott, convicted "trigger man," on the morning following the Rudner murder. He also presented photographs of Rudner's handwriting. Both were offered in evidence by the state.

Dr. Henry Jenkins, handwriting expert, testified that this telegram, which read, "Take Massillon store at once or report to home office at once," was written by Rudner.

When court adjourned for the noon recess, Dr. Jenkins was still on the stand. It was learned that the defense had its own handwriting expert who would testify that Rudner could not have written the telegram in question.

Indications were that the state would not complete its case today, making more probable that the case would go over until next week.

New York Lad Admits he Slew Man in Hold-up.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—"Hello, dad I just killed a man." Proudly 12-year old Michael Ponkranshaw, confessed slayer of Marcus Gold, a storekeeper, today greeted his father from a cell in the Richmond Hill police station. With a confident wave of the hand the child stopped his father when the man pleaded with him to tell the truth.

"Sure, I'll tell you everything, dad. I'm not afraid and I like this jail anyway. It's better than at home."

"But why did you do it, son?" asked the grief-stricken father.

"Why I was hungry," the boy explained calmly. "I wanted to get some money to buy coffee and cakes."

Michael had run away from home a few days ago, and last night he became hungry. He walked into Gold's store and displaying a gun ordered the man to "stick 'em up." As the storekeeper hurriedly complied, the gun went off, and he crumpled up on the floor. A policeman arrived and caught Michael as he was leaving by a window.

"Oh, I'm sorry I shot the man," the boy told the police. "But I had to have the money. I was desperate. I went into the store to pull this hold-up like I'd read about, and the gun went off. I was plenty scared. I knew he was dead from the funny way he looked. And I tried to get away but the policeman came and pointed his gun at me, and I dropped mine quick you bet."

Michael took the gun from his father's desk before running away from home, he said. He didn't mean to use it except to scare people.

But he didn't seem to feel any remorse.

night. Neither suffered any ill effects from the blast.

Mr. and Mrs. Batey, who were spending the evening on Thompson hill, heard the explosion. Batey reached the scene within a few minutes.

Mr. and Mrs. Pomeroy, whose home adjoins the Batey house, are visiting in Chicago.

Damaged Beyond Repair.

Although Batey was unable to explain the cause of the blast, it is believed the gas escaping from a broken joint ignited either from the furnace which is fired by coal or from the water heater, also located in the basement.

Most of the furnishings in the house were ruined by the explosion.

Inasmuch as no explosion insurance was carried on the building, the damage is a total loss except for that sustained by fire.

Building contractors who inspected the wreckage of the home today expressed the opinion that the place was too badly damaged to be repaired. An effort may be made to save the roof of the house by supporting it on braces while the new side walls are being constructed.

Sunday Blue Law Hearing Ends in Swapping of Blows

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Rioting and fist-fighting, in which members of congress and a churchman swapped blows, women screamed, and tables and chairs were overturned, broke up a congressional hearing today on a bill which would establish Sunday blue laws in the district of Columbia.

Representative L. Blanton, Democrat, of Texas, and Representative Sol Bloom, Democrat, of New York, had a personal encounter which wound up with Bloom lying across the table with the Texan on top of him.

While this was going on, the official reporter went to the floor under impact of the fist of Harvey L. Bowlby, secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance.

Blanton also knocked down L. B. Schloss, proprietor of an amusement park, who attempted to pull him off Bloom.

There were almost a thousand people in the committee room when the melee started, and there were several side fights among the spectators. The identities of the combatants were lost in the confusion of screaming women and general panic.

One woman in the rear of the room mounted a chair and began praying in a loud voice.

It is made under absolutely sanitary conditions and contains no opiates—points of especial interest to mothers who want to know what they are giving their children. Our druggist also recommends it highly." Ask for it.

HOME TRAINING PASTOR'S TOPIC

Failure of Home is Great Tragedy, Says Rev. B. R. Johnson.

The "failure of the home" was characterized as one of the "greatest tragedies of the world today" by Rev. B. R. Johnson, pastor of the First Church of Christ, in his sermon on the subject, "The Youth of Today," at last night's evangelistic service.

One person professed conversion.

Tonight, Rev. Mr. Johnson will preach on "How to Escape from Evil." Rev. Clarence Hanna, Cleveland, will render special vocal numbers. Residents of Pleasant Heights will attend the services.

In last evening's sermon he said:

"We cannot discuss this subject about the youth until we have first taken into consideration the home-life and home-training of our boys and girls. Many times were find the child born into the wrong home. Too often we find that the child is unwanted in the home; too often the child is born into an unchristian home. But, is the child responsible for this?

"One of the greatest tragedies of the world today is the fail of the home. In this day of jazz and society, in this day of excitement, the home is only a place where we eat one or two meals and where we come to sleep. Many times the home is the place for ornament and the boys and girls are not permitted to play and romp like children want to do.

"Too often we find that parents are not companions for their children: they are not acquainted with their son and daughter. Then, if the youth of today does wrong, place the blame upon the home and the parents. Parents should resume the responsibility of training their children in the way they should go.

"Another obstacle in the path of youth today is the lack of an education. Opportunities come to the youth and they are not prepared for them because they have not been educated. Many times the youth are saying to leave the great tasks of the world to someone else instead of preparing themselves for that task.

"Someday in the future minister, doctors, lawyers, poets and writers will be needed and who will fill that position? It will be that boy and girl who is resting in mothers' lap. It will be the one who has prepared for that position. Why is it that we see so many young men around on the street corners with nothing to do? Why are they not preparing themselves for some great task. Parents should teach their children to love an education.

"The youth of today must meet many temptations as each one of us meet them. But, they should have a guide. Is it not easy and splendid to climb the mountain when you have a guide. Christ wants to be the guide of every young life. He wants to be your companion all along the way.

"The journey of life will be so much sweeter if you will accept Him. The youth of today needs someone to guide and help them. Parents should always be a compnaion to them and teach them about God and the Christ. The youth will not fail if they accept Christ as their leader."

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—Bullish enthusiasm was stimulated in the industrial stocks in early trading today by the strength and activity of the market leaders, including U. S. Steel, General Motors and various copper, oil and independent steel stocks. Price gains in the active stocks were moderate, and mostly fractional, though specialties like International Combustion Engineering and International Harvester sold up 1 to 3 1-2 points in a heavy turnover.

Western Maryland alone of the "little rails" attracted speculative attention, the common stock advancing in good form to 32 1-2 for a new 3-point gain. At this price the stock has regained about eight points of last week's sudden break. Wheeling & Lake Erie, of sky-rocket fame, sold down 4 1-2 points at 56, while the preferred advanced fractionally to 58 5-8. Wabash and New Haven were slightly reactionary.

United States Steel bettered its best previous price for the year at 160 1-8, large blocks of the stock being taken at 160, while the new W. I. stock was active at the best prices of the year. Republic and Crucible Steel were active and firm and copper stocks firm.

Call money was in good supply at 4 per cent.

WELLSVILLE CITY PLANS TO RESURFACE MAIN STREET

INITIAL STEPS MAY BE TAKEN AT SOLON MEET

Proposal Will be Topic at Session Tonight.

ONE PARLEY HELD

Probably Will Arrange to Confer With Traction Company.

Initial steps toward the proposed resurfacing of Main street, a project that has been considered by solons for some time, may be taken at tonight's city council meeting with the organization of a committee to act with the Wellsville Chamber of Commerce.

That the Main street improvement project will be one of the major topics at tonight's session was indicated today by city officials, although there is no likelihood, it was pointed out, of any definite action in the way of the passage of resolutions or ordinances on the improvement project itself.

The proposal has been in the hands of city council's street and light committee for a couple of weeks and at least one conference has been held with the Chamber of Commerce on the proposition.

If a council committee is organized tonight, or if the street and light committee is delegated to act, it is probable that the solons, together with representatives of the chamber will approach officials of the Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction company with a view of obtaining their sentiment in the matter.

'SALVATION' IS PASTOR'S THEME

Special sermon was delivered by Rev. E. L. Zachman, pastor, at services Sunday night in the First Evangelical church. His subject was "Uttermost Salvation.'

"The question that arises in every believer's heart," said Rev. Zachman, "is not how much pity it takes to accept God or to join his church but what are his privileges, under the reign of grace. In other words what are the limitations of God's saving power, and to what extent can a man be saved in this life.

"The word says that all things are possible to him that believeth everything that is contained in the Book by way of promise.

"As we consider this uttermost salvation, we must guard against two extremes. If we place the standard too high, we turn honest minds away from it as an impossible attainment. If we place it too low, folks won't feel inspired to seek it.

"Some aim at perfection but overshoot it for angel perfection. Others place the mark too low, profess holiness and never possess it."

LA BARBA PUTS IN HARD NIGHT

Floored Four Times by Johnny Vacca in Boston.

BOSTON, Feb. 15.—Little Johnny Vacca, unknown Boston bantamweight, who four times floored Fidel La Barba, of Los Angeles, flyweight champion of the world, and won seven out of ten rounds, received nothing but cheers for his victory, it was learned tody. Because of the snow storm last evening, the Commercial A. C., sponsor of the bout, started to call it off. Vacca, rather than miss the opportunity to meet La Barba, offered to battle for nothing.

The champion from the Pacific coast was on the canvas three times in the second round and once in the fourth.

Three times La Barba took the count of nine, while the other time he was up at the count of five.

It was Vacca's first appearance in a main bout and he entered the ring on the short end of ten to three betting.

The first round was even and then Vacca began nailing La Barba on the jaw.

CHANEY SCORES IN WAR STORY

"Tell It To Marines," at American, is Winner.

Lon Chaney, he of the thousand faces, is showing his thousand-and-first visage at the American theatre.

The sinister cripple of "The Penalty;" the tragic clown of "He Who Gets Slapped;" the one-eyed monster of "The Road to Mandalay," has forsaken his weird trappings—for a disguise even more amazing.

He roars his way through the role of a tough old Marine sergent; years in the service; veteran of many a battle—battering the new generations of recruits into the traditions of the service that is "first to fight."

A grim old fellow, this sergeant of the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer spectacle, "Tell It to the Marines." But, under it all, proud of his boys; as fond of them as a father might be, even while he belabors them like a Simon Legree.

His is the story of many a tough old "top kicker" of the corps—and the explanation of the fanatical adoration Marines have for their sergeants—the tougher the better.

"Tell it to the Marines" is Simon pure entertainment—but it is more—it is the very soul of Uncle Sam's great service thrown on the screen.

It is full of sensational thrills—a great battle fleet thundering its defiance to the world; desperate battles; and with a wonderful love story woven through its laughs. The government saw its value—that is why it was made with the co-operation of the whole corps—why hundreds of Marines play in its dramatic action—why great battleships lent themselves to its needs. It does for the Marines what "The Big Parade" did for the soldiers.

William Haines, as the irrepressible recruit, has a role that was "custom made" for him, and Eleanor Boardman makes a charming heroine. Carmel Myers, Eddie Gribbon and others, including George Hill, director, merit praise.

French dressmakers now are designing bags, slippers and ruffles, as well as perfume, to harmonize with any particular costume.

The weather remains a fruitful topic of conversation, profane and otherwise.—Bellefontaine Examiner.

County Fair Premium List Changes Made Public by Marsden

County fair board today announced through its secretary, H. E. Marsden at Lisbon, that in the cattle premium list, for the next county fair, where there is no competition in entries, first premium would be given instead of second premium as has been the rule in past years. The board has also instructed Secretary Marsden to have the cattle barn equipped with electric lights, and to also erect a wash rack. These improvements will be completed before the opening of the fair next September.

The poultry show will be in charge of Earl Stockman of Lisbon, and the new premium list is to be augmented so that more varieties can be entered.

An appropriation of $1,000 has been made for free attractions for the next fair.

In the sheep division there will be an added entry list so as to include two classes of Merinos as are raised in this county. This entry list will be in addition to those entries listed from other places outside of this county. By this arrangement there will be more competition between the Columbiana county sheep growers.

Races are to be reduced to three per day, but the classes will not be determined until after a meeting of the Eastern Ohio Fair Managers association that will be held at Youngstown late in March. Purses, however, are expected to remain at $400 for each race, with percentages going to winners as heretofore.

Royal Venetian Five Head Four-Day Bill at Ceramic

High Class Singing Program Will be Offered With Elinor Glyn Picture, "It," Starring Clara Bow.

The Royal Venetian Five, one of the best organizations of singers in the country, after a sensational concert and vaudeville tour to the Pacific coast, will open a four-day engagement at the Ceramic theatre tomorrow.

The Venetians, offering a program of popular and operatic numbers, will appear in conjunction with the Elinor Glyn story, "It," a Paramount starring vehicle for Clara Bow.

If you imagine you have "It," ask yourself the following questions: Are you at all self-conscious? Have you a magnetic appeal? Are you true to yourself? Are you capable of a deep love? Upon answering these queries and batting one hundred per cent, be assured that you have "It."

Madame Glyn has imbued the character played by Miss Bow with a superfluous amount of "It." Antonio Moreno plays opposite the star. Clarence Badger directed for Paramount.

CROSS, FEVERISH CHILD IS BILIOUS OR CONSTIPATED

Look, Mother! See if tongue is coated, breath hot or stomach sour

"California Fig Syrup" can't harm tender stomach, liver, bowels

Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Fig Syrup," that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without griping.

When cross, irritable, feverish, or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue, mother! If coated, give a teaspoonful of this harmless, "fruity laxative," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. When the little system is full of cold, throat sore, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, indigestion, colic—remember, a good "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Fig Syrup," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here, so don't be fooled. Get the genuine, sold by "California Fig Syrup Company."

Some Frank Words on Catarrh

Because catarrh is unpleasant, few like to discuss it. Yet all know its prevalence. Many think "It will go away of itself," and ignore it until finally a chronic catarrhal condition exists.

To endure the constant raising of mucus, the clogged nasal passages, the offensive breath of catarrh is today inexcusable. Thousands have proved that Hall's Catarrh Medicine drives away catarrh because it tones and strengthens the mucous membranes.

When the inflammation of these delicate linings of nose, throat and head is reduced, catarrh vanishes. You owe it to yourself to get Hall's Catarrh Medicine today. Ask your druggist. Price 85c. F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

Sure of Himself Now!

So Clean Inside, No Fear of Perspiration Offense, However Over-Heated

"ANYTHING that gets results, was all the thought I ever gave to laxatives. In those days my perspiration was so acid, it used to rot my clothes. Then a doctor tipped me off to those wonderful little sweeteners—

CASCARETS

Once a person realizes the wonderful properties in cascara, no other laxative in the market would ever be considered.

It's no trick to "clean out the bowels." Dozens of things will do that. But a little natural cascara purifies the system clear through. Cleanses even the pores of your skin. Renders perspiration as inoffensive as so much dew! The old-fashioned way was "salts." They get action, but they take the mucous membrane along with the waste matter! Mineral oils are gentler, but they leave the bowels with a film of poisons for the blood to carry off through the pores. But, when you cascarize the system, you get rid of all the poisons by normal muscular action of the bowels.

If you have the habit of taking medicine for constipation, or even for auto-intoxication, stop it. For a candy cascaret is a delightful form in which to take cascara: children love them, and the taste tempts most grown-ups to have "more."

And what a comfort to know you are in that clean, wholesome condition that does away with any need of deodorants, even in warmest weather! Try a cascaret tonight—see how you feel next day, and for days after! With the skin fresh and fragrant. All druggists, 10c and 25c.

Dover Will Provide Tough Game for Highs Here Saturday

Have Won 13 Games and Lost Three in 16 Court Appearances to Date; Locals at Wellsville Tonight, Steubenville Friday.

Running up a total of 406 points against 245 for the opposition, and winning 13 out of 16 games played to date this season, Dover High school passers, who appear on the local floor Saturday night unexpectedly stack up as one of the real tough bets of the remaining games on the Blue and White schedule.

The Doverites have been slipping along easily, bowling them over right and left, with only three defeats to mar their record in 16 starts, until now they are being recognized as one of the strongest bidders for honors in the eastern district class A tournament which will be held March 4 at New Concord.

The Dover five has had no "set-up" schedule to amass their 13 victories from, either. Cambridge, Dennison, Massillon, Uhrichsville, Akron West, New Philadelphia, Muskingum Academy and others were played in order and defeated.

Lose to Sharon.

Two of the three reverses sustained by Dover were administered by Sharon (Pa.) high. In the first meeting of the two teams, Sharon won by a 33-23 count, but the margin was closer next time, the tally being 21-17.

Last week Dover lost to Akron St. Vincent, 24 to 22.

The game with East Liverpool here Saturday night is one of four remaining on the Dover schedule prior to the tournament. The others are scheduled with New Philadelphia and Wooster—two with the latter team.

Dover's complete record to date:

Dover 21, Dennison 13.
Dover 26, Cambridge 16.
Dover 35, Millersburg 18.
Dover 18, Massillon 14.
Dover 20, Uhrichsville 14.
Dover 22, Akron Garfield 10.
Dover 37, Uhrichsville 17.
Dover 21, Akron West 15.
Dover 25, New Philadelphia 10.
Dover 23, Sharon 33.
Dover 41, Millersburg 4.
Dover 24, Dennison 7.
Dover 17, Sharon 21.
Dover 20, Akron Garfield 19.
Dover 24, Muskingum Academy 10.
Dover 22, Akron St. Vincents 24.

Tonight Coach Lorah's quint goes into action at Wellsville in the first of two games with the Orange and Black passers. The engagement will attract the largest crowd of the season on the Wellsville court, 500 tickets for the game having already been disposed of.

With both teams at peak strength the battle should be one of the best of the season.

At Steubenville Friday.

On Friday night the Blue and White will be on the road again, being billed for a return engagement with Steubenville. The locals defeated Cartledge's outfit here several weeks ago by a decisive count and feel confident they can repeat.

For the first time in the history of the two schools, Toronto High trimmed the Steubenville passers last week and the Stubbers are, more or less fightin' mad. As a result Lorah's five probably will face stiffer resistance than the Jefferson countians provided in the game here.

MAY REMODEL PLAYING FIELD

Turk Nash to Move Diamond Back at West End.

PLANS for repair work at Patterson Field, including the wholesale moving of the diamond and playing field back toward the grandstand, were discussed among other matters at the meeting of the Turk Nash City Industrial league club last night in the Turk Nash sales rooms.

Patterson Field probably will be used by the Motors as their home lot this season. Right now it is in need of a general overhauling. Mike Turk, club owner, expects to send out a force of workmen to put the lot in shape before the spring drills gets under way.

Officials of the club feel that a large portion of the ground between home plate and the grandstand is going to waste and with dumping operations at the north end of the plot rapidly encroaching on the outfield, believe that probably 60 feet can be added to the gardens by the shift.

Home plate is now approximately 90 feet out from the grandstand, regulation distance. If the club's plans are carried out, the plate will be moved back 60 feet and the base lines, of course, moved in to correspond.

The Motors also decided upon their uniforms at last night's conference. Their suits will be white with "Turk Nash' across the chest and a monogram on the sleeve. Black caps and sox will complete the ensemble.

Appears "Off-Edge"; Lacks Fire and Dash

By Davis J. Walsh.

LONG BEACH, N. J., Feb. 15.—At the risk of becoming confounded with the technicians, a form of human life somewhat higher than a fallen arch, the writer today is constrained to break down and make a clean breast of the belief that a thoroughly conditioned athlete will not be dropped down in that $200,000 spot with Jack Delaney on Friday night. I saw a pale, logy, lacklustre Jimmy Maloney step through a brief workout and, for my non-essential part, the business was not highly impressive.

Later, I tried to persuade Jimmy De Forest to pass judgment on the young man's condition but James was non-committal and evasive. He would say nothing except that Maloney was not under his care but merely using his quarters here as a training grounds. Privately, De Forest is declared to have said that Maloney's system of training didn't meet with his entire approval.

Will Have to be Right.

Of course, a shave and a haircut will do sometimes as preparation for a ten-round bout but this one doesn't appear to be that kind of a fight. It will be a fight with a great one-punch hitter and, if the latter drops one on his beard, Maloney may need all the recuperative powers that good condition insure.

The writer had not great interest in Maloney's waistline, which was generous enough, in truth. He is one of those natural fat men whose obesity is deceiving. However, one can't go wrong on the state of the eyes and Maloney's are dull and expressionless. Neither can the tell tale whitewashed look under the eyes be ignored. Maloney didn't lose this aspect even after several rounds of boxing.

Neck Appears "Stringy."

It didn't seem, either, that the sweat came readily to the surface, although he went in the ring in a well heated room bundled in clothes to the upper lip. That as a rule is another bad sign. A good conditioner of men usually looks at a fighter's neck for signs of ill-condition. Maloney's looked like what the trainers call "stringy."

Maloney was neither fast nor obviously slow in action although it was quite apparent that he was pulling his punches. A man doing that can't be fast; still there seems to be no way to escape the impression that this particular fighter is far from being on edge. His lack of fire may be a matter of temperament but almost any well-trained human being, three days before a contest, will give more convincing testimony that some kind of life still flutters within.

In a two-round workout with Tom Kirby, a light heavyweight of Delaney's proportions, Maloney gave evidence of what he hopes to do on Friday by wrestling and putting the lighter man off balance at every turn. A little bit of that might prove a great plenty to Delaney if the bout went on to ten rounds.

However, Maloney seemed surprisingly open to a right cross. Kirby scored with three of them and Jimmy didn't see them until they finished. If he does that with Delaney, they can count him out with an hour glass.

BENNETT VICTOR IN ACADEMY TILT

Harry Bennett defeated Harry Clacey, 25 to 15, in last night's three-cushion billiard tourney match at the Academy.

Roland White and Bill Millers are billed to push the ivories around tonight.

I'm telling you straight—

is the works

PUT it down now for a double-riveted, copper-cornered fact: Prince Albert will give you more pleasure to the cubic inch than any other tobacco you ever packed in a pipe. Maybe I'm prejudiced. Even so, my statement holds. I'll leave it to you, after your first P. A. pipe-load.

Buy a tidy red tin of P. A. and follow these simple directions: Tuck about a thimbleful into the bowl of your favorite pipe. Light up, and pull that cool, consoling smoke up the stem. Exhale slowly and get the full benefit of that wonderful Prince Albert taste.

Cool as a claim-adjuster. Sweet as an unexpected inheritance. Fragrant as pine-boughs, swaying in a summer breeze. Mild, but not willy-nilly, if you get me. And of course you do! Make the test today and check-in with what I've been telling you.

You'll probably say I wasn't enthusiastic enough! Anyhow, get some Prince Albert now and get on the sunny side of pipe-pleasure. No matter what your previous experience with a pipe has been; no matter how set you appear to be, try Prince Albert. It will be a revelation!

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

PRINCE ALBERT

CLASH FOR CUE TITLE TONIGHT

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—The three-cushion billiard championship of the United States will be decided here tonight in a 50-point match between defending champion Otto Reiselt, of Philadelphia, and August Kieckhefer, of Chicago.

Reiselt and Kieckhefer won their way to the finals in the national tournament by winning last night over Earl Thurnblad and Gus Copulos, respectively. Reiselt defeated Thurnblad, 50 to 36, and Kieckhefer beat Copulos, 50 to 22.

The latter match was the sensation of the tournament. Kieckhefer ran out in 32 innings, setting a record for the meet and bettering his own former best game of 35 innings.

In the other two matches, Tiff Denton, of Kansas City, defeated Raimundo Campanioni, 50 to 32, and then lost to Earl Lookabaugh, of Chicago, 50 to 48.

JIMMY DELANEY WINS 10-ROUNDER

CINCINNATI, Feb. 15.—Before the largest fight crowd that has turned out here in several years, Jimmy Delaney, St. Paul middleweight, boxed his way through ten rounds to a newspaper decision over Maxie Rosenbloom, of New York, last night.

Delaney threw caution to the winds after the New York boy had shaded him in the first four rounds, and proceeded to hand Maxie a right uppercut that put him on his back in the fifth round—Delaney failed to call his shot, or something, and the easterner was soon back on his feet.

The boys mixed it freely after that, with Delaney being the more frequent scorer.

LADS WOUNDED IN GUN PLAY

Shooting Takes Place on Officer's Farm Near Wellsburg.

Otto Neff, aged 13, of Wellsburg, was perhaps fatally wounded, and Charles Adkins, 16 years old, was shot through the right hand yesterday afternoon as a result of play on the farm of Probation Officer I. W. Charnock, near Wellsburg.

Neff, who alleged young Adkins shot him, was found on a hill back of the Charnock farm by a farmer, Alexander Mewha, who, while working on an automobile, heard his cries for help. He was taken to the North Wheeling hospital.

Adkins escaped from the Morganza institution two years ago, it is said, and was apprehended and returned there by Charnock. Young Neff appeared before the court last November as a delinquent and was placed in charge of Probation Officer Charnock, who took him to his farm.

Adkins appeared there three days ago and went to Chanock's home on a visit. Charnock, his wife and two children left Sunday for a trip to Salem, O., leaving the boys on the farm. The two began playing with the pistol, and did a great deal of shooting at marks. The firing is said to have been kept up much of Sunday night.

Adkins walked to Wellsburg and had the wound in his hand dressed. He remarked to the physician that the Neff boy was wounded. It is thought Adkins wounded himself with the gun. He said a hunter had shot them.

Adkins was detained by the Brooke county authorities, pending an investigation.

JUST GETTING OVER WEAKNESS CAUSED BY FLU

This Woman, Like Thousands of Others, Had Severe Backaches and Nervous Attacks; Thanks Tepee Herb Tonic For Restoring Her Health.

It is well known by people who have had the flu that this trouble breaks down the entire system and often it is many months, sometimes years before a person so afflicted regains robust health.

Redwood.

An example of what Tepee Herb Tonic will do in such cases is well defined by Mrs. Ivy Clark, 1536 E 66th St., Cleveland, Ohio. She says:

"A few months ago I had the flu and it left me in a weak, run down state of health from which I didn't seem to be able to recover. My whole system was full of poison. Finally my liver got out of order and my kidneys went on a strike. I had a pain in the small of my back. My nerves were all unstrung and I would jump and tremble at the least sudden noise. I couldn't sleep well and felt tired even though I had not done any work. I was just "all in."

"I am now on my second bottle and feel better than at any time since I had the flu. My backache is gone. My bowels are regular and I have a good appetite. I am not nervous like I was. I am gaining strength every day for which I give full credit to Redwood's Tepee Herb Tonic."

Tepee Herb Tonic is sold and recommended by Carnahan's Drug Store and by well stocked drug stores everywhere.

OLDEST MEMBER OF CONGRESS SCOFFS AT RECIPES FOR ATTAINING OLD AGE

RALEIGH, N. C.—Rep. Charles M. Stedman, (D.) of North Carolina the oldest member of congress, scoffs at the time-honored recipes for attaining a ripe old age.

Major Stedman, at the age of 86, eats what he pleases, smokes when he desires and works hard.

"The whole secret of my long and active life is the Providence of God," he said, "He fixes the time for the death of all persons. I know my time is already fixed by Providence, and it doesn't worry me."

Graduating from college at the age of twenty, Major Steadman entered the Confederate army as a private in 1861, was wounded three times and emerged as a major. A lawyer, he held many public offices in North Carolina before coming to congress sixteen years ago.

"I smoke more cigers than the ordinary man, and have smoked a great deal most of my life," he said "I eat anything that I like that is set on the table before me. I do much walking at home but in Washington I take no particular form of exercise. I usually retire at 10:30 and rise at 7:30."

Major Steadman prides himself on his ability to keep his work as a congressman up to date. He never refuses to answer a letter, however trivial. They come to him in great batches from all parts of North Carolina.

"I haven't given the matter of retirement a moment's consideration," he said.

He has great confidence in his state. "North Carolina at the present time is enjoying prosperity and the prospects for the future are bright," he said. "The state has a magnificent climate, great resources, a conservative people and is in the midst of an era of great industrial activity."
